Shell Gas Well's Pay Zone Making Alberta History

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

Shell BA Whitelaw No. 1, 35 miles west of Peace River town, is making gas history in Alberta today as the bit continues to core down into pay thickness of sand now exceeding 300 feet.

Never before has an Alberta sand given up gas over such a section.

The famed Viking-Kinsella field, rated by some at one trillion cubic feet, has a pay thickness of only a few feet of sand.

Shell B. A. Whitelaw is on its fourteenth drill stem test over the 200 foot section and has not yet reached the end of the sand. Tests have ranged from 1,000,000 to 5,000,000 cubic feet a day. There have been several tests at 2,000,000 and 4,000,000 cubic feet; one at 2,000,000.

The tests add up to one of the biggest gasters of the province.

WORTHLESS FLARE

But as things stand now even if the B. A. Whitelaw well rates over 50 or 100 million cubic feet a day it will be of no economic concern to Alberta. It will be a worthless northern flare to people shovelling sawdust and ashes in Alberta's sister provinces, unless export is authorized.

Whitelaw already raises the thought of what other great reserves of gas and oil could be discovered in northern Alberta and northeastern B.C. and what will happen if big new reserves are found.

So far the only export route proposed to the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board which would take this northern gas is the route out of Edmonton and through the Yellowhead Pass.

VITAL IMPORTANCE

The route decision by the Board, and finally by the Alberta Government, if it comes before the Pacific Northwest market is filled by Montana and Wyoming gas, will be of vital importance to the gas and oil development of the Peace River country and northeastern B.C. and also to the market for Alberta oil.

It has been pointed out before that the natural corollary to a gas pipeline is an oil pipeline beside it. An oil market of 70,000 barrels a day is thus more or less hinged onto the gas export business.

Following the Normandville oil discovery the Whitelaw gas strike is seen today as adding a terrific impetus to the oil and gas search in the Peace River country, already one of the hottest prospecting territories in the province.

Belgium Gets Catholic Cabinet

BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 8—(UP)—Premier-designate Jean Duvieusart formed an all-Catholic cabinet today pledged to return exiled King Leopold to the Belgian throne.

The cabinet was sworn in by Prince Regent Charles shortly after noon and the premier immediately called a cabinet meeting.

Duvieusart told reporters his new government would bring the king, exiled since the end of the war, back to the throne "as soon as possible."

Skip Alexander Takes Early U.S. Open Lead

ARDMORE, Pa., June 8.—(AP)—Stewart (Skip) Alexander, 31-year-old touring professional of Knoxville, Tenn., defied Merion's sun-baked greens with a two-under-par 68 today to take an early first-round lead in the national open golf tournament.

Alexander put together a 34-34 over the par 36-34 east course.

Fifty threesomes set out over the well-trapped 6,694-yard Merion course this morning.

Contenders will be swinging until almost dark in the opening round of this rugged 72-hole test that has broken the hearts of champions. The tournament winds up with a double-barrelled 36 holes Saturday.

The weather rated top billing along with Snead and Hogan, who have been established solid favorites.

Two days of near-90 temperatures have left the broad, undulating greens hard as concrete and slick as glass. Each carpet was packed by a 300-pound roller last night to make sure they'd be lightning fast.

Unless there is some relief by showers, most of the pros agreed, four rounds of 71, one over par, will be sufficient to take the prize.

SEASON OFF TO FINE START

FORT ERIE, Ont., June 8—(CP)—The sturgeon season opened on the Niagara river yesterday, and Frank Lyons of Grand Island started with a bang, hooking a 100-pounder.

Ken Reardon Not for Sale

MONTREAL, June 8—(CP)—Old Kenny Reardon—old in point of hockey years—and Montreal Canadiens are going to keep travelling together for some time to come. That's the word today from general manager Frank Selke.

Selke said some "hot weather" reports had reached him that the battling defenceman is to be traded or sold.

Emphatically Selke said:

"Reardon is not for sale or trade. He is a great hockey player and remains with Canadiens."

Reardon, who will be 30 next year, has been with the Canadiens since 1940.

City Chinese Is Robbed

A city Chinese reported to the police at midnight last night that he was robbed of $20 by two men who forced two doors to get into his shack and threatened to kill him.

Lee Kon Aai told investigating officers he had parked his vegetable truck by his shack under the High Level bridge at 10 p.m. and was inside his house when he heard a noise.

He was "too scared to investigate," he said, and as he sat, panic-stricken, he heard the sound of the outer door to his residence being ripped open.

Then the inner door was broken open and two young men entered and demanded his money.

Lee said he gave in when one of the men threatened to kill him with a hunting knife. He said the men left after spending two hours ransacking the house.

Yellowhead Resolution Gets Go By

Alberta C of C Drop Suggestions Of Jasper, City Groups

By BILL BELL
Bulletin Staff Writer

RED DEER, June 8.—The Associated Alberta Chambers of Commerce and Agriculture convention here yesterday shied away from one of the most vital issues in the province today—the proposal to build a gas export pipeline to the Pacific Coast through the Yellowhead Pass.

The Jasper Chamber of Commerce sponsored a resolution to promote the Yellowhead Pass route for the pipeline, but delegates to the convention refused to discuss it.

Delegates took a hot-potato attitude towards both the Yellowhead route resolution, and another calling for adoption of daylight saving time in Alberta.

They charged discussion of the resolutions would "cause dissension and foster sectionalism" within the organization.

Both the Yellowhead route resolution, submitted by Jasper Chamber of Commerce, and the daylight saving resolution, submitted by the Edmonton group, were regularly moved, seconded and opened for discussion.

Owing to the absence of Jasper delegates the pipeline resolution was moved by Don McKay, secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Then members jumped to their feet asking the resolutions to be withdrawn.

Delegates said the Yellowhead pipeline plan could not be endorsed without boosting one section of the province against another.

REASONS CITED

The Jasper Chamber of Commerce resolution gave these reasons for favoring the Yellowhead Pass route:

1. Requirements of Canadians in the use of the gas should come first.
2. It will give employment to thousands of Canadians.
3. It will do much to open up

COW-SAVER HORSE TOPS AS ENGINEER

GEORGETOWN, Mass., June 8—(AP)—Burleigh Fersaid's cow floated out of a tight spot yesterday.

She fell through boards into a 20-foot-deep abandoned well in her pasture. Bossy was stuck fast.

Fernald sent for an automobile wrecker to hoist the cow but she was wedged so firmly that they couldn't get a chain or rope around her.

Neighbor Fred H. Horse saved Bossy (and the day) when he suggested that the well simply be filled with water.

This was done and up she floated like a cork in a bottle.

Railmen Take Strike Vote

MONTREAL, June 8.—(CP)—Fifteen international brotherhoods involved in a wages-hours dispute with Canadian railways announced today that they are distributing 90,000 strike ballots and the returnable date is July 24.

The announcement came from Frank H. Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee of the unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The unions sought from the railroads a 40-hour week in place of the present 48-hour week plus 2 seven-cents-hourly general wage increase. A federal conciliation board in April recommended a compromise which was accepted by the carriers but rejected by the union executive.

The strike ballots being distributed today will ask union members whether they wish to go on strike to back their executive.

Six-Year-Old Girl Attacks Babies

LONDON, June 8.—(Reuters)—A golden-haired six-year-old girl sat smiling and playing with her doll in a juvenile court here yesterday as a detective told how she had attacked babies in their baby carriages. One baby, four months old, was clawed from forehead to chin. Another baby attacked by the girl was only four weeks old. A dummy baby, placed in a carriage as a decoy, trapped the child. The case was adjourned pending medical report.

Rate Boost Protested By Premier

Wires St. Laurent Opposing Latest Freight Increase

Premier E. C. Manning today appealed to Canada's prime minister to suspend the recent 3.4 per cent freight rate increase allowed Canadian railways.

He termed "indefensibly unjust and unfair" the transport board's action in allowing the increase.

In a wire to Prime Minister St. Laurent, Mr. Manning said the increase in rates will fall largely upon traffic moving to and from Alberta and within the province.

POWERS UNDER ACT

The wire asks the prime minister to veto the increase, by invoking powers given him under section 52 of the Railway Act.

Mr. Manning called the prime minister's attention to the statement made by Canadian Pacific Railway counsel before the Royal Commission on Transportation last month that no part of the 3.4 increase would be applied to competitive rates.

Since competitive rates are particularly prevalent in central Canada, the increase will fall wholly upon the non-competitive and long haul rates.

Freight moving to and from Alberta and within the province is covered chiefly by these non-competitive and long haul rates, Mr. Manning's wire pointed out.

City To Give Stand On Gas

The city of Edmonton Friday will tell the Calgary gas hearing that no export of gas should be allowed until a 50-year continuous supply is assured, and until there is assurance that Edmonton consumers won't pay a higher price as a result of export.

City Commissioner D. B. Menzies is scheduled to appear at the Calgary hearing Friday, to present a case which Mayor Sid Parsons said yesterday "has been said 1,000 times before."

He was pointed out last night that the Texas price for gas at well-head was one cent per thousand cubic feet before export was allowed. Before years of export, the price is five and a half cents—due entirely to export.

Attorney-General Asks Investigation

A charge that Defective Inspector Bert Petheram struck Hong Suey Chin, recently acquitted of a charge of murdering Sam Kee, Edmonton green grocer, is being investigated by city commissioners in "closed court" today.

The commissioners also are probing charges by Joseph Gilbert, under sentence to hang for the slaying of Kee, that he, too, had been "beaten up" by police.

Mayor Sid Parsons said the city commissioners began the probe Tuesday at the request of the Attorney-General's department.

The department is reported concerned as to why the Crown offered no rebuttal to charges of police brutality made by Chin during his murder trial last April.

Chin was found not guilty April 27.

He said during the four-day trial that Inspector Petheram struck him across the face in the detective office after he was arrested, Oct. 14, on charge of murdering Kee.

INTERPRET 'STRUCK'

Evidence provided the city commissioners includes statements of two detectives that Inspector Petheram struck Chin. Finding of the enquiry will revolve largely around the interpretation of "struck."

Commissioners will make a full report to the Attorney General when the investigation is complete, said Mayor Parsons.

Results of the probe will not be available for "some considerable time," the mayor said today.

"We will have to complete the hearings, wait for the return of the transcription, and then give it careful study, before we have anything to announce," he said.

A reliable source suggests that if the probe uncovers definite evidence that Inspector Petheram used undue force in dealing with Chin, the city administration will issue strict instructions to abandon such practice.

GILBERT'S CHARGES

Commissioners are also hearing charges made by convicted murderer Joseph Gilbert in his April 17-20 trial that he was "beaten up" by police. Gilbert named no particular officers as responsible.

Investigation is expected to conclude within two days. Hearing evidence are Mayor Sid Par-

Friday's meeting will also hear a talk by Prof. Harold Spence-Sales of McGill University, on the proposed interim control order for town planning.

Lights Up 'Horse to Watch' In Belmont Says Arcaro

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 7 — (UP) — Jockey Eddie Arcaro today put the finger on long-shot Lights Up as "the horse to watch" in the Belmont Stakes.

Arcaro, scheduled to ride favored Hill Prince in Saturday's classic at Belmont Park, fears Lights Up for two reasons.

"First, because he's a game colt," Eddie explained. "And, second, because he's improving with each race."

Lights Up, which is owned by George D. Widener, certainly looked like a game horse—and an unpleasant one, too—when he charged to victory in last Saturday's Peter Pan Handicap. He had to come from behind twice to win, and he did it with such marked authority that Widener decided then and there to start him in the Belmont.

That courageous run by Lights Up in the Peter Pan also impressed Arcaro.

"Any horse that can come on like Lights Up should be dangerous in the Belmont," Eddie reasoned. "He's definitely my type of horse."

Arcaro, however, admits he'll be mighty disappointed if Hill Prince doesn't win the Belmont.

"I know a great many people figured he lost his edge when he lost to the Suburban Handicap," Arcaro said. "But I worked him myself the other day and he looks like the same horse. I might even say he looks better now than when he won the Preakness."

Should Hill Prince win Saturday it will mark Arcaro's fifth Belmont victory—thus deadlocking him with Earl Sande for the stakes' modern-day record. When informed of this, Eddie appeared quite surprised. He couldn't even remember how many winners he has had in the Belmont.

sons and Commissioners John Hodgson and D. B. Menzies, who sit "as a court."

Attending are Chief Constable Reg Jennings, Crown Prosecutor W. J. Shortreed, KC, John Hart, representing the Attorney-General's department, and Assistant City Solicitor Alan Macdonald.

QUESTION POLICE

Mr. Hart and Mr. Macdonald, as well as commissioners, are being allowed to question the various police officials involved in the case. Witnesses are sworn and evidence taken down by a Court reporter.

The Supreme Court trial last April, at which Chin and Gilbert made their accusations against police, was the second for each.

They had appealed successfully against convictions guilty verdicts brought in against them on the murder charge last December. Gilbert was found guilty again in his second trial, the week before Chin was freed on the same charge.

Chin's allegation that Detective-Inspector Petheran struck him and pressed him to tell an allegedly false story was one of the important points in Chin's defence. His wife, Mrs. Colleen Chin, present in the detective office when Chin was brought in October 14, corroborated his story.

The couple testified that when Chin denied Petheram's charge that he murdered Kee, the Inspector hit him across the face with his hand.

CLAIMED BEATING

Joseph Gilbert, testifying in the same trial, said police beat him up at the car near the CNR station where they strapped him and also at the police station.

He said the latter beating took place "in a little office by the desk "asked if Det.-Sergeant James Person was among his assailants, he told the Court, "I was beaten up so badly, I couldn't see."

The day following this evidence, a Bulletin editorial urged Police Chief Reg Jennings to investigate Gilbert's charges "with scrupulous care and report his findings to the public."

'We do know that such brutality is part of the police systems of some other cities on this continent," said the editorial.

"It will not do in Edmonton. Even the bare suggestion of it is intolerable."

This would amount to an average increase of about one dollar a month for each of the 550 Edmonton school teachers involved.

No Fire Post Applicants Show Up For Exams

City commissioners today arranged for the fire chief examinations, but nobody showed up.

Mayor Sid Parsons said yesterday that the city would carry out its commitment to hold the exams at 10 a.m. today in Council Chambers.

Presiding examiner William Cairns, accompanied by A. Campbell, former city comptroller, sat in the examination centre from before 10 a.m. until 10:17 a.m., but not one of the 12 local fire department applicants for the chief's job put in an appearance.

The 12 aspirants earlier unanimously agreed to refuse to sit for the exams because they said Commissioner John Hodgson had assured them they would have six weeks in which to study the examination material prepared by New York fire consultant Harold J. Burke.

Wednesday afternoon the men met with the commissioners in a hectic closed session which settled nothing.

ALDERMANIC DECISION

Commissioners are reported to have pointed out that council ordered the exams to be held for those in the fire department who sought the chief's post, and that commissioners could not override the aldermanic decision.

Whether non-appearance for the scheduled exams automatically disqualifies the 12 local applicants will have to be decided by council. Civic Block sources would today offer no opinion on the question.

The fire fighters will have an opportunity to state their case verbally at Monday night's council meeting.

Common Law Bans Beatings

Common law prohibits assault of persons held in police custody, a provincial government legal department spokesman said today.

Police officers are permitted to use force if necessary to restrain persons from resisting arrest or from escaping custody, but are not allowed to use threats of force for other purposes.

Beating or striking of prisoners or persons being questioned by police is regarded as common assault under the law, and persons guilty of this offence are liable for punishment on conviction whether or not they are police officers.

New Indian Deal Given To Commons

Many Changes Are Suggested To Improve Living Conditions

OTTAWA, June 8.—(CP)—Canada's Indians will be given a more active role in the administration of their affairs under the terms of a new Indian Act introduced yesterday in the Commons.

The bill, sponsored by Citizenship Minister Harris, provides that the consent of the Council of Indian bands must be obtained before expenditures are made by the government out of the capital moneys of the bands.

It affects about 120,000 Indians, scattered across the country. About 30,000 of them are in British Columbia, 45,000 in the prairie provinces, 35,000 in Ontario, 14,000 in Quebec, 3,000 in the Maritimes and a few in Labrador.

The measure, largely based on the recommendations of a parliamentary committee which studied Indian problems in 1946 and 1947 also provides for:

1. Registration of all Indians on reserves.

2. Residents of reserves who are only one quarter Indian blood to be denied the rights granted full-blooded Indians.

3. Changes in the ownership of land on reserves.

4. No change in the enfranchisement of Indians.

5. Minor changes in the educational policies applicable to Indians.

OTHER CHANGES

6. Giving Indians the right to drink alcoholic beverages off the reserves, if the province in which they are located permits them to do so.

7. A complete change in the "descent of property" regulations and for the administration of Indian estates by provincial courts.

8. Payment direct to the Indian by the Indian agent of money payable under terms of a lease or an agreement.

9. An extension of the purposes for which government loans may be obtained by Indians.

10. An increase in the powers of the governor-in-council — the cabinet—to make regulations with respect to health and similar matters.

11. A better form of electing chiefs and band councils.

12. No change in the tax exemption on personal property on the reserve.

13. Compulsory enfranchisement of any Indian girl who marries a white man.

Second Trial Frees Youth

Chief Justice Howson found youthful Cecil Sinden not guilty on a charge of retaining stolen property yesterday—a little over a month after Sinden pleaded guilty to the charge in an original police court appearance here.

Sinden was arrested by city police May 27 after they found three cartons in his room containing goods stolen from the south side Esquire Men's Wear in a $2,500 looting.

Sinden and his roommate Gordon H. Anderson were both taken into custody at the same time and later pleaded guilty to the retaining charge. Sinden was given a six months sentence.

NEW TRIAL

Subsequently Sinden gained a retrial when newly retained counsel Abe C. Miller, KC, won right to appeal the sentence.

Chief witness against Sinden in Supreme Court yesterday was Donald Bell, 18, now serving 18 months sentence for his confessed share in the Esquire robbery.

"I have the reputation of being a convictor," the Chief Justice said, in freeing Sinden. "But I may as well tell you I wouldn't send anyone to tail on Bell's evidence."

Pipeline Expert Questioned On Cost Estimates

CALGARY, Alta., June 8—(BUP)—Dan S. Goodbody, American pipeline expert, was submitted today to extensive questioning on the manner in which he arrived at estimates for two possible gas export lines from Alberta to the west coast.

The queries were fired at him during sittings of the petroleum and natural gas conservation board here, which is hearing an application by the Alberta Natural Gas Company and two associated firms for permission to export surplus gas from the province.

Goodbody earlier this week told the board that according to his findings, an all-Canada pipeline to the west coast would cost $130,718,789 while a part-Canadian, part-American, route would be $20,000,000 cheaper, and easier to maintain.

Goodbody, of Oceanside, Cal., is employed by Pacific Pipeline and Engineers, Ltd., of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Festival Workers Back At Work

LONDON, June 8.—(Reuters)—Nearly 400 men whose unofficial strike has been holding up work on London's "Festival of Britain" site decided today to return to work.

The men, employed by a contracting firm, stopped work a week ago because another firm employed two non-unionists.

Survey Of North Boundaries Will Avert Disputes Over Oil

OTTAWA, June 8.—(BUP)—The government moved today to prevent Alberta, British Columbia and the North West Territories from being involved in any possible disputes over possession of rich oil bearing land in the Canadian north.

The department of mines and technical surveys announced that a number of survey parties this summer would determine the exact northern boundaries of the two provinces and the territories. It then would be possible to determine who owned the wells.

Survey parties also will survey Indian reserves in Alberta and Saskatchewan to let oil companies know immediately whether newly discovered oil land belonged to Indians.

"Oil developments in the west have made imperative the legal surveying of various sectors of provincial boundary lines and the subdivision of certain Indian reserves," the department said.

"To enable provincial governments to deal with the granting of oil leases, two field parties will carry out surveys of boundary lines between the Northwest Territories and Alberta and Alberta and British Columbia. Three parties will also concentrate on subdividing Indian reserves in Alberta and Saskatchewan into which the search for oil has spread."

11 PARTIES IN ALL

These five survey parties will be among 11 which will work in western Canada this year. The other parties will operate in the Mayo area of the Yukon and the Yellowknife district of the NWT surveying mineral claims to pave the way for possible development and transfer of mineral rights.

The survey also will lay out lots, group lots, and townsites around Mayo, Whitehorse, and Teslin in the Yukon and the Hay River settlement in the Yellowknife area. This work will be carried out because of the rapid growth of these northern mining communities.

Group lots will also be surveyed along the Alaska highway in response to requests from persons wishing to erect tourist resorts.

OVER 25 RESOLUTIONS

More than 25 resolutions from organizations throughout the province were debated by the 100 delegates from 40 associations.

Hottest debate came on the Acme resolution asking the association to reaffirm its support of the free enterprise system and asking the provincial government to resist demands by minority groups for public ownership.

On shouts from the delegates that the motion be approved, others jumped to their feet claiming the resolution was being hustled through without proper debate.

Explanations by the president C. F. Pals gave the speakers their chance and debate continued with the motion passing later by an overwhelming majority.

Increased immigration of selected professional and skilled workers will be urged on the government as a means of relieving shortages in the labor market within Alberta.

The plan approved will ask the government to advance the money necessary to intending immigrants in these classes taking as security "sterling funds which may be temporarily impounded abroad."

Extension of improved highways throughout the province with particular reference to the new Trans-Canada route, met with no opposition as it was felt will be made to speed up the government's road-building program.

Special licence plates carrying an appropriate provincial slogan and symbol designed to illustrate the tourist resources will also be sought.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS

Other resolutions dealt with and approved included request for specific grants for capital coats of education of not less than 50 per cent; two changes in the Income Tax Act dealing with husband and wife partnerships and legitimate business losses.

Elimination of the means test for seniorners will be taken up by the dominion conference of Chambers of Commerce at Banff later this year.

Speaking at the noon luncheon T. E. Oberholtzer, deputy minister of industry, outlined the growth of the province during the past 50 years.

Commons Still Controls Size Of Regular Army

OTTAWA, June 8.—(CP)—Commons has agreed to strip away parliament's traditional formal power to set the size of the regular army—but it still will have that power indirectly, through control of defence expenditures.

This agreement came Wednesday after Defence Minister Claxton said manpower has become far less important than equipment in modern military establishments.

Mr. Claxton indicated, too, that Canada's regular forces are virtually at the ceiling intended for them in peacetime. The ceiling envisaged, he said, is 50,000. The three services now contain just about that many men.

The discussion arose as the House sped through a 251-clause bill to consolidate and modernize defence legislation into one act, so swiftly, in fact, that A. L. Smith (PC—Calgary West) complained that he missed 12 sections when he turned away to blow his nose.

SOME FINALIZED

Earlier, the House gave final approval to a number of bills. They included one amending the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, which provides crop failure bonuses, another amending the Militia Pension Act and another embracing Senate amendments to the Income Tax Act.

Given first reading was a bill to provide for the operation and maintenance of a residence for the prime minister.

The clause about the size of the army was raised by Percy Wright (CCF—Melfort) who said the bill would, for the first time, place in the hands of the cabinet instead of parliament the power to set that size. This ended a tradition that dated back to Cromwell's day in England. It was a distinct departure which members should weigh.

Mr. Claxton said the justification "is that, under existing arrangements, the number of men actually involved in the defenses of any country at one time is only one of a great number of factors that constitute the control of defence."

'Hottest' Fighter Runs Top Air Show Thrill

Speed runs by four of the "hottest" air force and naval fighters promise to provide the thrill of the afternoon Saturday for the 15,000 persons expected to turn out for Air Force Day here.

Twenty-five aircraft, including one helicopter, will take part in the afternoon-long display of aerobatics, formation flying, parachute jumping, low-level bombing, and other special events.

The thrilling speed flight will be led by an RCAF Vampire which will flash past the crowd a few feet "off the deck" at 575 miles-an-hour.

It will be followed in quick succession by a twin-engine navy Hornet, a scaled-down version of the Mosquito, flying at 450, an RCAF Mustang and a naval Firefly, both flying at 400 miles an hour.

The Firefly, designed to operate from a carrier, will demonstrate its versatility, following its 400-miles-an-hour speed run, by floating by at 100.

Another high point of the afternoon will be a drop by a squad of para-rescue troopers.

Also demonstrating rescue techniques will be the winch-equipped helicopter. The crew of the machine will hoist a man aboard with a winch while the aircraft hovers 25 feet above the ground.

System is used to rescue men from boats or from terrain on which the machine cannot land.

A crowd-thriller will be the low-level bombing run by a big four-engine Lancaster which will roar in over the field to dump its load of flour-bag "bombs."

Among the displays on view will be the Ground Control Approach radar system. Mounted in a truck positioned on the field, this radar unit is used to "talk down" aircraft coming in for landings in bad visibility.

Edmonton's RCAF operated GCA system makes this field one of the best equipped in western Canada. The unit is the only one in operation in the prairie provinces.

Special buses will leave at five minute intervals for the field from 101 street and Jasper.

HAPPY ON HIS houseboat is George Reem, 80, enjoying afternoon in sun with his dog Dinah. Boat has been Reem's home for some years, is quaint sight on North Saskatchewan River banks.

Pensioner In Houseboat Says River Good To Him

By Pat McVean
Bulletin Staff Writer

The river is pretty good to a fellow.

These sunny afternoons 80-year-old George Reem sits on the deck woodpile of his land-bound houseboat, chews on his plug of tobacco, scratches the ear of his dog, Dinah, and contemplates the Saskatchewan.

When the city's houses and streets had no room for him, the river helped him to survive.

It was his "building lot" six years ago when he realized his old-age pension wouldn't stretch to the cost of inflated rents.

SELF-CONSTRUCTED

Near where the Saskatchewan slips under the Dawson Street bridge, he built a scow-bottomed boat with a tiny one-roomed house aboard it.

When the flood of 1944 came, the Saskatchewan served the purpose of a whole gang of movers and their vans.

The moveable house floated upstream to the foot of 87 street, and high waters carried it up on the north bank near the place where it now stands.

PRETTIER SPOT

That's a prettier spot, Mr. Reem thinks. The afternoon sun lingers on the river, and you can soak up its warmth from the pocket-handkerchief size deck.

"Yes, the river is pretty good to a fellow," observes Mr. Reem.

It brings him firewood daily. He has built a quay, ("they call it a quay here, but back in Minnesota where I was a boy it would have been a 'rip-rap' "), which traps the driftwood as it floats downstream.

The river supplies the water he needs for his household chores, too.

ONE AMENITY

In summertime he allows himself one amenity of city life—a few pails of water from the tap at the top of the hill, which he uses for drinking purposes. But in wintertime, he doesn't even go out for that; melted snow serves as drinking water.

He fears civic officials may want to tax him for the little square of river bank land his houseboat occupies.

If so, he'll quote to officials a 300-year-old law of the frontier which he believes has never been repealed.

An old trapper friend told him that, by an early Canadian statute, 66 feet on each side of a river's high water mark is an area reserved for the use of voyagers.

PUSH OFF EAST

But if the law is invalid now, Mr. Reem will haul the houseboat a few feet down to the river and push off to the east.

He will travel as far as he can. "I lived in Minnesota, and homesteaded in southern Alberta in 1905. I've had farms at Balzac, Rocky Mountain House, and Lousana and a shoe store uptown in Edmonton, but this is the best way to live," he said.

BACK BEFORE LONG

"Four years ago I sold the boat and moved in with my daughter in Saskatoon. Before long I was back, buying the boat from the fellow I sold it to."

He eyed the river affectionally. "Could take the boat down to Prince Albert, portage there, and go right on. There are a lot of places I'd like to see."

INTERIM PLAN FOR EDMONTON IN PREPARATION

An interim control order may govern Edmonton's town planning machinery until the master plan is prepared.

Prof. Harold Spence-Sales, McGill University architectural and town planning authority, is in the city conferring with Town Planner Noel Dant, city official, and provincial government departments on the proposed interim planning order which would give Mr. Dant and his department authority to regulate Edmonton's growth until a master plan is prepared.

Alta. Power Lack Unlikely

Alberta is assured there will be no power shortage such as has been experienced in British Columbia and Ontario.

This assurance was given to the Associated Chambers of Commerce at their annual Red Deer convention, by J. G. MacGregor, of Canadian Utilities Co.

Demands for rural electrification have been met and fears of a power shortage eliminated, he said. "This province's gas and coal resources produce power just as cheaply as by hydro development."

COMPARISON MADE

In a comparison between private enterprise and government ownership he pointed out that in Saskatchewan under public ownership of rural electrification only 2,600 farmers were receiving the service.

In Alberta 9,000 have come in under the co-operative plan.

Average cost to Alberta farmers is $900 for installation then a monthly charge of $3.50 plus an energy charge of two cents per KW hour, he said.

Intruder Flees As Police Cars Speed To Scene

Thief who was found inside the North End City Market early today escaped while police in two prowler cars and a police wagon sped to the scene.

Constable Arthur McRitchie at 3:45 a.m. saw the man duck behind a meat-saw in Bre-Win's Meat Market, which occupies part of the building.

McRitchie said he waited for assistance in sounding the alarm until at 4 a.m. Constable H. M. Thomlison and Inspector M. Kelly passed by and summoned the three police vehicles.

On arrival, they surrounded the building but the thief escaped from one o fthe building's 30 exits. Investigation showed glass doors on the west side of the building had been broken. No thefts were reported from the premises.

Melchor P. Aquino, Philippines delegate, said the report of F. J. H. Grattan gave a three-day detailed report on how Samoa is faring. Council delegates generally praised New Zealand's administration.

Prospects Better In Peace River

Soil Moisture Conditions Bad In Southeast Alberta

Third 1950 crop report of the Alberta agriculture department said today that soil moisture conditions in Peace River area are good and recent rains in other areas have considerably improved prospects.

However, southeastern Alberta remains dry and early rains are required for satisfactory growth.

Wheat seeding is now completed and most of the coarse grains will be in the ground by next week. Crops are in fair condition in spite of the dry spell, and prospects have improved in central and northern Alberta with the recent rains.

SEEDING DELAYED

Height of wheat is from one to six inches and coarse grains are up to four inches. Around 90 per cent of the grass and legume crops have been sown, but insufficient surface moisture in the drier areas has caused delays in this operation.

Comparatively little damage has occurred to date, other than extensive soil drifting. Slight wireworm activity is indicated in some areas and the sweet clover weevil is causing some concern. Grasshoppers have done little damage so far. With everything in readiness for any outbreak that may occur, speedy control of this situation is anticipated.

Fire Destroys Shed, Garage

Fire destroyed a shed, garage, a 1928 model car early today at the home of Louis Garneau, 14305-118 avenue.

Three rigs from Nos. 2, 8 and 8 fire halls under the direction of Deputy-Chief McCann responded to the alarm at 3:24 a.m.

Two passing motorists noticed the blazing garage. Garneau told police he had been working late in the garage on his car motor.

Total damage is estimated at approximately $450, including $150 worth of tools which were stored in the garage.

History of Bungling

The conditions of which local applicants for the post of fire chief complain, with much justice, and which make them reluctant to take the examinations set for them, do not arise from any immediate crisis but from a long history of fire department bungling that goes back at least 22 years.

It is right and just that firemen in the ranks should hope for promotion within the force to which they belong. They are manifestly entitled to an opportunity to so improve themselves that they may rise to the chief's post.

This undeniable principle was clearly in the mind of the civic administration when it ruled that applicants for the chiefship within the force should have preference over applicants from outside.

But this gesture is completely empty because the applicants themselves feel they have not been adequately prepared.

In their initial refusal to take the examinations, they wrote to the mayor and council pointing out that the promised six weeks study period, prior to the examination, has not been given to them and that earlier requests for instruction have been turned down.

Thus, in talking about a preference to local applicants, the civic administration has been reprehensibly inconsistent.

It has offered to give them a preference. But it has offered no facilities to enable them to successfully compete with men trained elsewhere.

This inconsistency is no new thing. It has existed since October 15, 1928, when Mr. Justice Tweedie, investigating the fire department, pointed out, first, that there was "no organized system of instruction for the men and officers in fire fighting methods," second, that there was an utter "lack of literature in the fire halls treating of problems which have to do with fire fighting" and, third, that there was no "established system in force whereby the fitness of senior men for promotion could be tested."

Recommendations along these lines were made by Mr. Justice Tweedie nearly 22 years ago and in the report on the Northern Hardware fire made after the investigation last year, Chief Justice (then Mr. Justice) O'Connor took occasion to comment that most of the recommendations of the Tweedie report had never been carried out.

Thus, for 22 years the Edmonton civic administration has refused or neglected to afford Edmonton firemen the opportunity for training that would enable them to take leadership in the fire department.

Such a lengthy history of departmental bungling is almost incredible.

How the mayors and councils and commissioners ever permitted this state of the department would rise to the needs of a great city, under these circumstances, is beyond human comprehension.

And this is the situation which has been created today:

Edmonton cannot afford to have a fire chief inadequately trained.

At the same time, Edmonton cannot afford to perpetuate rank injustice to the men in the fire department.

The present suggestion of these men should have full consideration when they ask that Chief Ferguson remain as head of the department until his retirement three years hence and that in the meantime firemen be given a chance to improve themselves with full courses of instruction.

No fire department, with the best chief in the world, is going to function well if its feelings rankle with an obvious sense of injustice.

Town Planning Requires Backing

With all the pressure being put on the Edmonton town planner, it is essential that he receive some backing from the general public. There are things with which we may not agree. No matter what plans are made, some person or group of persons are going to suffer damage or inconvenience.

But the fact which must be kept squarely in mind is that if Edmonton continues to develop in the haphazard way it has in the past, it is eventually going to cost the taxpayers millions of dollars to undo mistakes which could be prevented right now.

The question of deliveries to business houses has been mentioned before. There is no escaping the fact that unless we want streets to become impassable, it must be insisted that off-street delivery areas be established by each commercial building and it should follow that the only exceptions should be cases where no deliveries are to be permitted.

This applies both to streets and lanes, because some Edmonton lanes are disgracefully cluttered up with trucks and cars trying to make deliveries and locking up other premises while doing so.

Apartment Buildings, Too

It has been said that public buildings must provide adequate off-street parking facilities. That should apply equally to apartment buildings. There is no reason why tenants of apartment buildings should be forced to use the streets for parking.

Still another aspect is some degree of protection for those areas where parking is provided for occupants. It is becoming an increasing nuisance to find people invading private parking areas and leaving vehicles to obstruct those who are providing themselves with off-street parking.

As matters now stand, no protection whatever is afforded to keep trespassers out of private off-street parking. The result is that many owners hesitate to clear out areas which could be put to such use because they know that once they do, unauthorized persons will invade their property.

It should be possible for the City to provide regulations covering this so that more off-street parking will be provided with the knowledge that the police will be as ready to deal with unauthorized parking in such areas as they are to deal with unauthorized parking on streets.

New Streets Necesary

The worst feature of town planning is the matter of new streets. It is obviously impossible to provide for future traffic without providing for new streets. This involves interference with buildings and property. It is something which no one likes.

Yet when we find cities like Toronto having to spend hundreds of millions to cure traffic difficulties, and when even Vancouver is faced with expenditures involving millions, simply to acquire property needed for highway use, it would seem that Edmonton should be well ahead of the game to secure those areas now, even if it did mean spending a few million dollars to compensate owners.

A town planner is an unpopular person each time he happens to interfere with your own project. If he is not he should be dismissed. But if he knows his job, it is essential that he receive full backing in order to resist the complaints that are inevitable with each decision. Unless we are ready to go through with planning, we might just as well forget the whole business and take it on the chin when the future catches up with us.

Expanding for Greater Revenue

Edmonton citizens should not succumb to gloom over the forecast of City Commissioner John Hodgson that Edmonton's per capita debt, from a low of $146 in 1946, may rise to $300.

It is true that Edmonton is spending a great deal more money. But these expenditures will enable Edmonton to earn a great deal more revenue.

Shareholders in a great corporation do not grow despondent when increased business opportunities compel them to spend huge sums on expansion because they know they are only spending more money to make more money.

Similarly Edmonton's transition into a great modern city, at whatever cost, need not be deplored because the greater the city, the greater the revenue.

Edmonton's debt rose from $16,500,000 in 1949 to $22,000,000. This year it will reach $30,000,000. In 1951, it will be $40,000,000 and in 1952, $52,000,000.

The public works program valued at $40,000,000 in 1948 has now jumped to $60,000,000.

But all these expenditures are on a sound basis because new property values, now assessed a horde of new taxpayers will be present to pay for them.

The Detwiler project will preserve downtown property values from that slump which is such a threat to the financing of many large cities.

These astronomical figures do not mean that Edmonton is swamped by debt.

Road Signposts for Everywhere

Efforts of the Alberta Motor Association to have all roads in Alberta clearly marked as soon as possible should be of great benefit to the tourist industry.

Signposts have already been supplied free by the AMA to smaller communities in the province.

But every road, secondary as well as primary, should carry directional and distance signs so the stranger may know where he is and where he is going.

There is not much use making special efforts to get tourists with automobiles into this country unless every facility in the way of good roads and clearly marked roads is offered them.

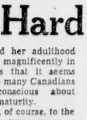
The AMA campaign should have strong support.

ODDS AND ENDS By Harold L. Weir

Self-Conscious Canadians Try Hard to Look Grownup

Canada earned her adulthood so manfully and magnificently in two world wars that it seems strange to see so many Canadians painfully self-conscious about their country's maturity.

I am referring, of course, to the recent attempt in the house of commons to change the name of "Dominion Day" to "Canada Day".



WEIR

There is absolutely nothing in the world against calling the holiday "Canada Day".

So long as you are able to sleep in in the morning, go on a picnic, see a parade and hear a few patriotic speeches, what difference does it make what it's called?

But there is nothing wrong with "Dominion Day" either.

And the subject of this discourse is the quaint state of mind of those who feel there is something wrong with it.

The reason "Dominion Day" is resented by a few Canadians is that the term seems to them to smack of a state of subordination to Britain.

There are two things to be said about this odd point of view.

Inferiority Not Implied

In the first place, there is no connotation of inferiority in the word "dominion".

"Dominion" is derived from the Latin word "dominus" which means "lord." Hence the implication of sovereignty, self-government and authority is inherent in the word.

It comes from the same root as "domain" and, in some senses, can be used synonymously with "domain".

"Dominion" in law implies absolute proprietorship in land. In ancient days, "domain" was frequently used interchangeably with "kingdom".

Canada is officially a kingdom. Therefore, she is a domain and a dominion.

The word "dominion" does not imply dependence. On the contrary, it proclaims sovereignty.

To object to "Dominion Day", as a term implying an inferior status, simply advertises a misunderstanding of the meaning of words.

Just Touchy

In the second place all this touchiness about Canada's sovereign status only reveals the fact that we are uncertain about it.

When you see a youth parading about in the habiliments of manhood and speaking with an unnaturally deep voice and blowing cigarette smoke out of his nose, you are sure he is not yet quite a man.

When a youth actually becomes a man, he doesn't have to pretend he is a man any more. The fact speaks for itself.

Similarly Canada can give no more convincing evidence of immaturity than all this frantic anxiety to convince everybody that she is a grown-up nation.

All the clamor for a new flag, all the excitement about the privy council, all the concern about terms and phrases, all the solicitude about a national culture—all these merely convey to the world the erroneous notion that we have not yet passed the period of national puberty.

These adolescent manifestations are not only silly, but they do Canada a great injustice.

For Canada is grownup and sovereign and independent and mature.

She grew up in the fire and blood of two major wars.

She attained her sovereignty without having to strike a blow for it. She is independent because nobody ever tried to keep her dependent.

Relation To Britain

Canada will never prove her adulthood by continuing to slap Britain in the face.

I believe that in some rather depraved orders of society it is common for a young man to celebrate his maturity by administering a threshing to his father or by turning his mother out-of-doors.

I have never heard that this was the custom of decent and respectable people.

A young man does not have to establish his coming of age by abandoning the surname of his father or by changing the family habits or repudiating the family traditions.

It is unfortunate that a few Canadians, some of them, unhappily, in parliament, feel that all these things are necessary to make them feel grownup.

Canada can be just as sovereign under the Union Jack as she could be under some device of a beaver gnawing a tree.

She can be just as independent as a dominion as she could be as a republic.

It would be nice if some little Canadians would learn to appreciate these facts.

Smiles

A firm believer in personal economy is the well-known editor. A salesman once endeavored to interest the editor in a hearing aid which sold for a hundred dollars.

"Oh, I can get along with something much cheaper than that," the editor told him. "You just wail here a minute, and I'll show you."

He disappeared into the inner recesses of his private office, and a few moments later reappeared with a tiny wire running from his vest pocket to his ear.

"This," the editor proclaimed, "can be purchased for a few cents."

"That!" the salesman hooted. "How can a little scrap of wire help you to hear?"

"When people see this," he replied, "they'll talk louder."

Letters to the Editor

Peace Mongering?

Editor, Bulletin—Could it be the real reason for the smears and antagonism to which professional Christians like Dean Johnson, Father Duffy and Dr. Endicott, who crusade in the cause of peace and the abolition of war, are subjected, is that the abolition of war would mean the ending of our unchristian capitalist economy, of which war is a very important part?

If the inclusion of a parade of their armed forces by the USSR in a public celebration of the greatest event in their history is, as charged by the Vancouver press, deliberate war mongering, what would be the terms to apply to the large scale fleet and air arm manoeuvres now under way in European waters, plus building of bases over a large part of the world?

Would it be peace mongering?

What difference, fundamentally, is there between a political religious, totalitarian dictatorship with headquarters in Moscow and a religious political totalitarian dictatorship with headquarters in Rome?

Too Many Children?

Editor, Bulletin—I was shocked to hear one of my acquaintances get angry at people having children in a so-called over-populated and starving world.

I hope the idea isn't widespread. Since God created this world and blessed it with plenty and also asked us to increase, multiply and fill it, wouldn't it be a good idea to spend our time attempting to reform a corrupt society, so that we may have as many children as we like in security? Or is it better to curse God and His wise ways because men became greedy and avaricious and thwarted His goodness? The trouble with our generation is that we have lost a lively faith in Providence, and expect the other fellow to do all the reforming.

Housewife Pays

Editor, Bulletin—A great deal of propaganda is being levelled against the $2.50 being charged to radio listeners for the support of the CBC. The poor taxpayer is being robbed, they say. Commercial radio would bring us programs for which we do not have to pay one red cent.

This is, of course, the rankest eyewash. The fact is that the housewife, every day of her life, is paying a hidden tax to commercial radio through her purchase of cosmetics, soaps, groceries.

Bob Hope says that his sponsor is paying him 4n soap, and Arthur Godfrey insists he is paid with tea bags. This always gets a laugh, of course. But it remains that these continent-wide programs are being paid for by Mrs. Housewife.

She may well suspect that if she added her share of the cost of commercial radio hidden in the price of groceries and other commodities on her shelves, it would make the $2.50 that goes to the CBC look like small potatoes in comparison.

ONLOOKER.

Parliament's Bad Boys

Editor, Bulletin—Why not a daily comic strip on parliamentary procedure? The "Dead End Kids" have nothing on our MP's. Dignity of position, whether at Ottawa or elswhere, is forgotten.

A minister tells newsmen to go to hell and, furthermore, he upholds his right in telling them. Then he accuses that bad boy Green of carrying concealed weapons (a stiletto), and, of course, calling each other a liar goes by the board.

I'm beginning to think one is better away from Ottawa. I really think Howard Green better have a bodyguard. He might even get hit with a pipeline.

Just imagine a newsman telling his boss to go to hell. Of course they never do—at least their boss never hears them.

I think it a good idea if them boys in Ottawa were taken for a session in the woodshed.

R. A. M.

Give All To U.S.

Editor, Bulletin—I am all in favor of Mr. Howe's plan to build the pipeline through the United States. After all, we must do everything that we can to help them build up their industries in Washington and Idaho.

Why go half way in this program? I suggest that we also build the Trans-Canada Highway through the same states, with "stub" highways to Edmonton. The saving to Canadians in gasoline taxes would be considerable.

Of course this plan might meet with some opposition from people in Alberta, but if Howe and Company don't worry about their wishes, why should I?

Nest On Chest

Editor, Bulletin—

A young fellow came out of the West
With a seagull tattooed on his chest;
He was oftentimes heard
To assert that the bird
Thought the hair on his chest was a nest.

C. R.

Indians' Plight

Editor, Bulletin—I was much interested in an article by McLean's Ottawa Editor, Blair Fraser, in the June 1st issue, titled "But the Red Man Didn't Vanish".

But one remark made by Fraser should be of great concern to all of us. Speaking of the aged Indians who do not receive the Old Age Pension he writes that Hon Douglas Abbott, chairman of the Treasury Board, says he wants to be sure an aged Indian needs $30.00 a month to live on.

Now I was among a group of nine "Friends of the Indians" who visited the Louis Bull Reserve at Hobbema two Saturdays ago—and we were completely shocked at the conditions on that Reserve. In a one-room "home" that we entered lived a family of five in what I would call abject poverty. The man worked hard all day tending the stock on the Reserve. With them lived an aged woman who 'had nowhere to go' and this family literally shared their 'home' and 'crust of bread' with her. How can Mr. Abbott and the Board be so callous about such things? As if the rations they get—deficient in vitamins—and $8.00 a month in cash were enought! Why doesn't Mr. Abbott come and see for himself?

The Friends of the Indians work towards getting the Treaty Indian back 'on his own feet'—to help him to help himself. It is honed that important changes will come through the Indian Department's policy of building Day Schools, and through them giving the children better education as well as making contacts with the parents. We were told that only three of the parents of children at this new school had received any education at all.

Costly Crop

Editor, Bulletin—All the development going on in Canada has me wondering if we can afford another new millionaires. The record of the past certainly stands as a testimony against it. For every millionaire we have produced we have just that much human misery left by the havoc they wrought.

Manufacturing, mining, in fact most every industry you would care to name, have produced their millionaires at the cost of the natural resources of our nation, many of them immutable.

No, I don't honestly think we can afford another set of them.

Second Round Talk Lacks Any Standing

Ever since the fighting in Palestine ended in a victory for the Israeli forces, there has been bitter talk in some Arab quarters about a "second round."

In view of the demonstrated military weakness and acute political and economic instability of most of the Arab nations and the lack of unity among them, much of this talk could be discounted as wishful thinking or just plain bluff.

But the fact that this kind of talk has persisted and the fact that not one of the armistice agreements concluded by Israel with the invading Arab states has so far been replaced by a formal treaty of peace have kept alive the threat of a revival of hostilities in Palestine.

This, in turn, has given rise to a dangerous race in armaments between Israel and her neighbors.

The developing situation can hardly benefit either nation or the Western powers, who have been denounced either for supplying the arms to one side or withholding them from the other.

Conference By-Product

It now appears that one of the important by-products of the recent London conference which saw a broadening and deepening of the spirit of unity among the United States, Great Britain and France was an agreement which can lessen the tensions in the Near East.

The most significant aspect of this agreement, announced simultaneously in Washington, London and Paris on May 25, is the declaration in which the three powers declare "their unalterable opposition to the use of force or threat of force" between Arab states and Israel.

"The three governments," the declaration goes on to say, "should they find that any of these states was preparing to violate frontiers or armistice lines, would, consistently with their obligations as members of the United Nations, immediately take action, both within and outside the United Nations, to prevent such violation."

This may not, technically, constitute a three power guarantee of the independence and territorial integrity of Israel and her neighbors. But in view of the circumstance that none of the countries in that area is strong enough to defy the Anglo-American-French combination it is tantamount to just that.

The declaration makes it clear, however, that the recurrent talk of a "second round" that has been coming from individuals and groups in Arab lands is nowhere an expression of official policy.

It is understood that the United States has received solemn assurances from Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Israel that those nations have no intention of undertaking any act of aggression against any other state.

Similar assurances have been received by Great Britain from Iraq, Transjordan and Egypt, and by France from Syria and Lebanon.

The three powers thus now can feel free to supply the Arab nations and Israel with arms without fear that those arms will be used to begin a war in the Near East. The chief benefit will enable those nations to assure their internal security and "permit them to play their part in the defence of the area as a whole."

Implicit in the latter statement is the belief that in the long run the Arab states and Israel will make peace and begin cooperating among themselves for their common benefit.

To that end the Anglo-American-French declaration regarding the supply of arms to the Arab world and Israel must obviously be followed by a determined effort on the part of the three Western powers to restore peace between Israel and her neighbors.

THE QUESTION: Do you think Edmonton women wear too much makeup?

B. Mix J. Brodie N. Lowe W. Savick G. Gammache A. McMillan

W. SAVICK, 13206 - 91 street, salesman: No. I know that my wife knows how to apply it and never uses more than needed. As for the cost, I think that I spend more smoking.

GEMMA GAMMACHE, 9945 - 85 avenue, elerical: rapher: No, they don't, and besides I think it all depends on the woman. Some women who don't know how to apply it are the ones you will find with too much on.

ALEX McMILLAN, 11218 - 88 street, salesman: There are quite a few women in the city who do wear too much this pancake affair, but as a whole I think it's pretty good.

NORMA LOWE, 12244 - 79 street, telephone operator: No. And it's not because I'm trying to stick up for the women. You will see the odd one that does wear too much, but that isn't all of Edmonton's women.

JACK S. BRODIE, 11418 - 123 street, furnier: Edmonton women as a whole don't, and I think that in this part of the province none is needed. I imagine there is the odd one who has too much on.

BONNIE MIX, 11332 - 70 street, telephone company: No, not the average, but some do. High school children are often seen with extreme amount of rouge, pancake makeup, lipstick. Goodness knows why, they surely don't need it.

Soviet German Sector Gets Civilian Boss

By John B. McDermott
Special to The Bulletin

BERLIN, June 8.—(UP)—Russia replaced four military executives in Germany today with civilian commissioners in a move believed intended to speed a separate Soviet peace treaty with East Germany.

The shakeup replaced the Soviet military commandant of Berlin, Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov, by a civilian commissioner. Similar changes were announced for the three Soviet zone provinces at Brandenburg, Saxony and Thuringia.

It was believed the Russians were withdrawing occupation controls to pave the way for removal of Soviet control of Germany in the hands of the Communist-dominated East German government.

POLICE REMAIN

However, the Russians would leave behind the East Germany police army of 40,000 men to take over their occupation tasks.

Significant developments which point to an early Soviet-East German peace treaty are:

1. The puppet East German government's acceptance two days ago of the controversial Oder-Neisse line as Germany's eastern frontier.

STAFF REDUCTION

2. A reduction of 25 per cent in Soviet control commission staffs, implying that German leaders will be given more freedom.

3. Closing of Russian-operated East German concentration camps.

4. An announced end to prisoner of war repatriations.

5. Return to German ownership of 24 factories seized by Russia.

These acts all remove from post-Hitler peace treaty talks a number of controversial subjects which could easily embarrass Russia.

CALL MAY HAVE BEEN REVERSED

INDIANAPOLIS, June 8. —(AP)— Methodist Bishop Richard C. Raines stated in his May telephone bill yesterday—it had a 70-cent charge for a long distance call to "Heaven."

Bishop Raines could recall no telephone conversation with the Pearly Gates. He did make a call to New Haven, Ind., May 8.

The telephone company said no, the call was to Heaven, though nobody knew just where that is.

The Indiana Methodist leader says he's not going to argue about it.

South Miners Back On Job

DRUMHELLER, Alta., June 8—(CP)—More than 120 coal miners who had been on strike here for three days over the laying-off of a miner who had been caught smoking in the tipple of the Red Deer Valley coal mine, returned to work at the mine this morning.

The miner's union, the Nacmine local of district 18, United Mine Workers of America, (C.C.L.), met yesterday afternoon and voted to return to work.

Meanwhile Ed Boyd and William Ure, both of Calgary, representatives of district 18, and V. A. Cooney, of Calgary, executive-secretary of the domestic coal operators association of western Canada, continued negotiations for the return to work of Cyril Jones, who was laid off last Thursday when mine officials caught him smoking in the coal dust filled tipple of the mine.

Four Czechs To Die

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 8.—(BUP)— Four of 13 Czechs on trial for treason and espionage were sentenced to death tonight.

KING TAKES SALUTE AT BIRTHDAY PARADE

LONDON, June 8.—(Reuters)—The King, in scarlet uniform and towering bearskin, stood under a hot sun during London's horse-guards parade today to take his birthday salute at the annual trooping-the-color ceremony.

Londoners thronged the route from Buckingham Palace to the parade ground to cheer the royal family.

The sun blazed down from clear blue skies as the King left the palace wearing the uniform of colonel-in-chief of the Coldstream Guards.

Earlier, the crowd outside the palace had seen the queen drive off for the parade ground with Princess Margaret in an open carriage. Queen Mother Mary and Princess Elizabeth, expecting her second baby, drove by car.

On the parade-ground, 45 officers and 1,506 other ranks of His Majesty's Brigade of Guards, wearing their 22-inch-high bearskins and full dress uniforms, paraded in a temperature about 75 degrees fahrenheit.

Massed bands, drums, and pipes of the brigade provided martial music for the royal inspection, the trooping of the color, and the march-past.

Anthony Eden Is Granted Divorce Due To Desertion

LONDON, June 8.—(UP)—Former British secretary Anthony Eden was granted an uncontested divorce on grounds of desertion today from his wife, Beatrice Helen Eden, whom he married 27 years ago.

Eden, 53, fashion-plate deputy-leader of the British Conservative party, and his wife have been separated for the past three years. The former Mrs. Eden has lived in New York city for the past two years.

The suit was uncontested. Mrs. Eden filed no answer to the charge that she had deserted her husband in January, 1947. Eden, heir to the Conservative Party leadership now held by Winston Churchill, was the only witness.

PRAISED BY CHURCHILL

Eden's political career was not expected to be affected by the divorce, which had been rumored pending for months.

He appeared with Churchill at a rally of 7,600 women Conservatives in London's Albert Hall last night. Churchill went out of his way to express confidence in and praise for his deputy.

ANTHONY EDEN
. . . Gets Divorce.

"Don't you believe the nonsense of some writers in the newspapers about confusion and differences between Mr. Eden and myself," Churchill said. "When there are differences, we will thresh them out.

"I do not take any important step in public life without carefully consulting Mr. Eden, that most able and distinguished man."

The women cheered and cheered while Eden grinned.

TO STAY IN N.Y.

In New York, Mrs. Eden said she intended to continue living there but had no definite plans for the future.

Mrs. Eden is the third daughter of the Hon. Sir Gervase Beckett, the first baronet of Kirkdale Manor, Yorkshire England. She and Eden were married in 1923 and have one son living. Their elder son, RAF pilot officer Simon Eden, was killed in Burma in 1945.

Jim Davis Says Acting's A Cinch

Because He Knows What It Is To Day-Labor At $50 A Week

By Virginia MacPherson
Exclusive to The Bulletin

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.—(UP)—Plenty of big-name stars will cry on your shoulder about how tough their jobs are—but not Jim Davis. He comes right out and admits Hollywood's the softest touch there is.

"Most actors and actresses never had it so good," he said.

"Don't let 'em give you that line about slaving before a hot camera all day.

"That's a lotta hooey!"

Davis, who made his ill-fated movie debut with Bette Davis in "Winter Meeting", is the gent who digs ditches and lays bricks when acting jobs are scarce.

"I got the deep-freeze treatment after that picture," he grinned. "It was a turkey and I was in and out faster than you could read the reviews."

FIFTY A WEEK

So Davis, who is six foot three, rustled himself a job as a day laborer with a construction company at 50 bucks a week. There were times, he said, when he could hardly make it home nights.

"That's why I laugh when these stars whine about how hard they work making movies," he growled. "Let 'em try hauling bricks for 50 bucks and then see how loud they holler."

Davis said Hollywood is the only place he knows where you can drag down fabulous dough for doing practically nothing.

"When you get right down to it," he said, "an actor only works a few hours a day. The rest of the time he's sitting around on the set shooting the bull — playing gin rummy — taking a nap — or just twiddling his thumbs.

MONEY FOR IT

"Where else do you get paid a fortune for killing time?"

And who else but Hollywood shells out four-digit paychecks for such pleasant work? Kissing beautiful ladies pays much better, Jim said, than digging ditches. And it takes less out of a man.

"I don't even call acting work," he added. "It's something almost any actor would rather do than anything else. He's unhappy when he's not acting. It's almost larceny to take money for it."

Construction of the new Welland ship canal cost $132,000,000.

Bulletin Cautious On Field Marshal

PRETORIA, South Africa, June 8.—(Reuters)—Last night's official bulletin on Field Marshal Smuts, who is ill with pneumonia, stated he has reached the stage in his illness "from which further improvement will naturally be very gradual and will largely depend on rest and his own powers of recuperation."

Rialto Books Revival Of 'Wizard Of Oz'

MGM's magnificent musical masterpiece "The Wizard of Oz," is back and opens Thursday at the Rialto Theatre.

Judy Garland, Frank Morgan, Ray Bolger and Bert Lahr star in the technicolor film based on L. Frank Baum's famous fantasy.

The famous story of little Dorothy, the farm girl who is blown away by a cyclone and finds fantastic adventure in the Land of Oz, remains intact to every detail in the screen version produced by Mervyn LeRoy.

One of the most elaborate settings in the film represents the Emerald City, home of the famed wizard in the picture.

TREES INGENIOUS

The almost human trees which grasp at Judy, Ray, Jack and Bert are marvels of ingenuity. Constructed of rubber, each of 50 trees in the central group was governed by separate wire controls operated offstage.

To take full advantage of color photography, all costumes were in brilliant and contrasting hues in fantastic design.

A brilliant musical score with six fitting songs accompany the action of the amazing movie which starts Thursday at the Rialto Theatre.

Mrs. Roosevelt Packs 'Em In

OSLO, Norway, June 8 — (Reuters)—High school boys and girls packed themselves like sardines into the University Aula hall here today to see and hear Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

At the meeting, arranged by Norwegian United Nations Association, Mrs. Roosevelt was presented with a decorated copy of the children's declaration of human rights.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Audie Murphy, "fed up" with being the most-decorated U.S. soldier of the Second World War, disclosed today that he has given all his medals away.

"I've been fed up with that 'most decorated' business for a long time," said the soft-spoken young Texan. "I realize that it is an honor, but only because it symbolizes the work done by a lot of other guys, too. But it has never meant much to me."

I asked what has happened to all the medals.

"I gave them away, mostly to kids."

He's not ungrateful for the honors but he's a modest man with no pretense about his own achievements. He feels deeply the loss of his comrades who didn't come back from the war.

He's equally unassuming about his film career. Although he is playing his fourth leading role, in "Kansas Raiders," he still considers himself more of a farmer than an actor.

FRUSTRATION

Ray Milland is so frustrated at not being able to direct a picture that he might even do one under an alias of Joe Doakes or his real handle, Reginald Truscott-Jones.

Milland has urged producers all over town to give him a whirl at a megaphone. "They all have the same answer," he lamented.

"They tell me that once I directed a picture I lose my value as an actor. I'm supposed to wait until I no longer want to act."

So now he has the idea of directing a picture incognito and using another name. "Then, believe me, if the picture turned out to be good, people would find out who Joe Doakes' was," he added.

Latin Theme Marks New Edmonton Club

Mocombo On St. Albert Trail Will Cater To Many Tastes

Dining and dancing in the Latin-American manner is available to Edmontonians just three miles north of the city's limits.

Opened last night, the Club Mocombo, situated on the St. Albert Trail, will cater especially to people who prefer going "South American way."

MOST ATTRACTIVE

A large sign and Neon edging atop the front walls gives the modern, flat-roofed building a most attractive appearance.

Walls are of cedar siding and treated Weldtex, colored peach and light grey.

A large parking area surrounds the establishment, one end being reserved for drive-in car service patrons.

The front entrance to the club has heavy doors leading into the foyer which is connected to the check room.

Rose edge-lighting on a large "cloud" attached to the ceiling provides the soft lights that accompany the sweet Latin music in the dine and dance room.

SPEAKERS

A compact band-stand is backed by a glass-brick wall. Upper walls have built-in loud speakers installed specifically for vocal solos and announcements.

The Mocombo coffee shop has a U-shaped counter and seats 18 people.

Comfortable rest rooms for men and women are accessible from the main room and the coffee shop.

Fine kitchen facilities ensure rapid service at all times. Food retains its freshness in a built-in refrigeration equipment.

A large suite, available for private parties, is situated upstairs in the club. This suite has attractive plywood panelling, heavy carpeting on the floor and is fitted with padded furniture and modern service counter.

A large refrigerator, furnace and emergency lighting system are installed in the basement.

Dining and dancing at the Mocombo begins at 9 p.m., finishing at 1:30 a.m. Coffee shop opens at 9 a.m. Special Sunday dinners will be served from 2 p.m. and the drive-in service operates from 9 p.m.

Armand Sylvestre Dies at Morinville

MORINVILLE, June 8—Funeral service was held this morning for Armand Sylvestre, 40, who died Monday in Westlock Hospital.

The father of 15 children was discovered lying in the field on the farm he operated in Pickerville district and was rushed to hospital where he died Monday.

Surviving are his wife, seven sons and eight daughters, of Morinville. Interment was in Morinville Cemetery.

AGED ARE VULNERABLE

CHICAGO — (UP) — People over 65 are 11 times as likely to be killed while walking in traffic as persons in the 25-44 age group, the Chicago Motor Club says.

The main reason, the club finds, is that they are slowed up more by wet and icy streets. Also, they aren't always as careful.

"Elderly pedestrians frequently depend upon motorists to slow down or stop for them," said the club president, Charles M. Hayes.

"While most drivers are glad to do so when they can, it is a dangerous mistake to count on it. Sometimes automobiles just cannot stop in time."

Older people should cross streets in bad weather only when they can reach the other side before a vehicle approaches, he said, because if they try to hurry they are likely to fall.

Bellis Woman Dies

BELLIS, June 8—Mrs. Mary Zotek, age 71, who lived southeast of Bellis, died unexpectedly Sunday afternoon.

She was grandmother of John Pasichnyk, of the Midland and Pacific Grain Elevator at Bellis.

BONNYVILLE, June 8—Head on collision occured in Bonnyville Monday afternoon with both vehicles suffering serious damage.

Accident occured on Main Street when cars allegedly owned by Jack Pappirny and Eugen Baril, both of Bonnyville, collided. No one was injured.

Time Out

By DICK BEDDOES

LLOYDMINSTER, June 8—Blowhard Beddoes' Lloydminster bits and balderdash:

There are a lot of guys swinging at that 3-and-2 pitch in this tournament but the character most folks want to see is Max Bentley.

His coming here is sort of a home-town-boy-makes-good yarn. People here knew him when he was a hungry kid on his way up.

And after nearly 10 years in the NHL he still makes the tournament baseball rounds. He'll lead this Delisle club into tourneys at such spots as Eston and Kerrobert and Prince Albert.

And in those towns, like in Lloydminster, folks he never saw before will walk up to him and say:

"You won't remember, but I used to be in your hometown of Delisle."

For a star's fans are like that. They'll use any excuse to touch the hem of his garment, to coin a phrase.

★ ★ ★

Bentley gave his fans quite a thrill yesterday by belting a 400-foot home-run. It was a long ball, even where a country mile is just that, and then some.

Over a sirloin steak, after beating Eston, he talked baseball and hockey.

"You ain't seen nothing yet until we show you 'Goose' Goslin," said the Toronto Maple Leaf centre, making reference to the pitcher he'll use today.

Goslin is a 20-year-old right-hander, regarded by Max as the finest amateur moundman west of the Great Lakes.

THREE DOT STUFF

Bentley regards Edmonton's Johnny McCormack as a cinch to make good with the Toronto Leafs. Max leaves Lloyd tomorrow for Toronto, where he will play in the Rimouski benefit baseball game between Leafs and Montreal Canadiens on Sunday.

There's a whole family tree of Bentleys here, including Max, Doug, Jack, Bev, Reg and Roy. 'Tis said they've made enough dough out of hockey, race horses, baseball, wheat farming and their Delisle frozen food locker that they should be known as Bentleya, incorporated.

SCOOP

Look for New York Rangers-sponsored New Haven to pull out of American Hockey league and for Rangers to move into Cincinnati with Montreal next winter.

New Haven dropped 30 grand last season, according to their goalie, Emile (The Cat) Francis, and have just about had the course.

Francis was playing with North Battleford in this show, along with Tony Maze, Alex Uffleman, Pete Prediger, et al.

Prediction: Delisle should repeat as winners in the Lloydminster shindig. They've got good pitching and a good bench.

★ ★ ★

Add-Folks-in-Town-from-Edmonton: Ralph Morgan, Frank Wolfe and his son, Evan, Ad Berg and Pep Moon drove down together yesterday. Also on deck for the show are salesmen Alex Lister and Al Kaplan.

★ ★ ★

We're getting splendid co-operation from tournament officials, such as Joe Schmidt, Les Hand, Charlie Cuthbert, Cece Bellward, Norm Clarkson, Jack Geisbrecht and Ernes Morlidge. All are doing a great job.

★ ★ ★

There has been some jurisdictional trouble between umpires John Ducey and Harry Ornest. Neither wants to be called umpire-in-chief.

Playoffs $160,000 Bonanza CAHA Secretary Reports

BANFF, June 8— (CP) — Canadian Amateur Hockey Association grossed more than $160,000 from playoffs during the 1949-50 season, secretary - manager George Dudley of Midland, Ont., yesterday told the opening session of the association's annual meeting.

Of this total, about $85,000 will be returned to the clubs in play-off bonuses. These figures will be announced in a few weeks.

The financial statement also revealed that the association spent $18,000 for operating its various branches last season. Another $5,000 was donated to the British Empire Games Association, while $6,000 was awarded in scholarships to various persons.

A lengthy discussion was held on a proposal "Master Card" for signing hockey players. The new card, if adopted, will detail each player's record from the time he starts in midget hockey.

More than 60 top hockey moguls attended the opening meeting before taking the afternoon off for a motor tour of Banff and surrounding scenic points in the Canadian Rockies. A closed session was held last night.

Today promises to be the busiest day of the annual meeting. Election of officers is scheduled for tomorrow. President Al Pickard of Regina indicated he will not run for re-election.

The general meeting is expected to consider the rule governing the icing of the puck and whether players in junior and senior ranks will be signed to contracts.

The Alberta Amateur Hockey Association plans to suggest that all senior and junior players be signed to contracts.

Some delegates favor deleting from the rules the one on icing the puck; others want it retained.

HOCKEY DONS LAUD GRAHAM, MERCURYS

BANFF, June 8 — (CP) — Two of hockey's top executives, attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, yesterday paid tribute to Edmonton Mercurys who won the 1950 world amateur hockey championship at London, England.

Bunny Ahearne, secretary of the British Ice Hockey Association, and Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, both spoke highly of the behavior of the Mercurys on, and off the ice, while overseas.

They lauded the fine work of coach Jimmy Graham.

Hero or Bum, Len Karlson's Dilemma

Eskimo shortstop Len Karlson couldn't seem to make up his mind whether to be a bum or a hero as the blubber-eaters knocked off the league leading (by a mile) Dodgers 9-7 at Renfrew Park last night in a Big Four Baseball league encounter.

Wisely enough, he finally chose the hero role.

When Dodgers struck for five runs in the fifth inning, to more than wipe out an earlier 2-0 edge Esks had garnered, it was Karlson's muff of an easy toss from second-sacker Ed Morris that set them up in business.

HE BLEW IT

There was one away at the time. A double play, to retire the side, stared Karlson in the Kisser. Instead those rollicking Dodgers promptly turned on a head of steam good for five runs.

At this point Manager Morris probably would have sold the Swedish-born Karlson for an old sweat-shirt.

However, the Junior league graduate came up swinging, particularly through the seventh and eighth innings when the Eskimos struck back for seven runs to iron out the Dodgers.

First man up in the seventh, Karlson coaxed a walk from rookie right-hander Eric Wigeland. Off this springboard Esks tallied three times.

Again, as the eighth rolled round, Karlson was first away from the bat rack with stick in hand. This time he singled sharply to left. Once more Esks were on their way, against relief hurler Morrie Hawkey.

WHA HOPPEN?

Before Hawkey eventually brought matters under control by whiffing Earl Elsey for the third out, four Esks had checked in. Score was 9-7, for the second-placers. Dodgers could do nothing against Dick Lowe in their last time at bat.

Wigeland, despite displaying little or no savvy as to the location of the plate, appeared to have Esks in his hip pocket until the roof caved in during the seventh frame.

Then he issued four bases-on-balls, a ringing triple to Cliff Johnston and a line-single to Jack McGill as his swan song. The free tickets brought his total for the evening to 11. He was wild, you see.

WASN'T READY

Hawkey, without much of a warm up (just why he couldn't have been ready wasn't clear) proved a soft touch for the eager Esks in the eighth.

Singles by Karlson, Dave Brockie and Johnston jam-packed the bases almost before Hawkey knew he was in the ball game.

Bet Merion Proves Tough Golf Test

ARDMORE, Pa., June 8—(AP)—The Merion Golf club, with the yawning traps that make it one of the toughest layouts in the world, is fit and ready for today's struggle against 165 of the finest shotmakers in the United tates.

Thousands of dollars have been bet that the course will be crowned the victor when the last ball has been played out of the rough late Sunday afternoon and the 50th U.S. Open championship is ready for the history books.

Never before has the playing site itself come in for such pre-tournament discussion among the players and been so fiercely backed by its supporters to repel the assault of the Sneads, the Demarets, ths Hogans and the Middlecoffs.

At even money, Philadelphia's citizens and others who know Merion have wagered their rolls that the winner of the 72-hole event does not break par of 280 strokes over the course's rugged 6,694 yards.

Much New York money still was saying last night that the brilliants who shoot the 63 and 64 on the tournament trail will subdue Merion too.

Sammy Snead probably remained the favorite to add the open crown to his many other links laurels, with a third swing, the AGA preay chipped one into the cup for a par four. His disbelieving companions were Lloyd Greer, Dotg Kilburn and Alf Molyneux.

Mayfair club champ.ionship opens July 30 with a qualifying round. Stylish Johnny Aitken is the defending champ.

A start will be made at the Highlands Sunday on the Kirkland trophy event, a handicap affair that rates with the best fun of the year out on Ada boulevard.

Frank Willey, formerly assistant to Jack Cuthbert at Calgary Country club, is the professional at Red Deer Golf and Country club.

Red Deer's Central Alberta tournament will be held as usual, in Augur

JUNIORS PLAY SATURDAY

Eaton Golf Trophy Play To Get Underway Sunday

Chip Shots to the Green: Opening Eaton cup match of the season is scheduled for the Highlands Golf club Sunday. The Martell brothers, Henry and Burns, longtime holders of the prized silverware, will try to take up where they left off last year—and the four or five years previous—with a victory. Their opponents? Country Club pair of Johnny Letke and 'Chuck' Carnegie.

Charlie Smith, president of the Alberta Golf Association, was club champ at Prince Rupert... along about a decade ago . . . Word goes that Buddy Loftus started 2-3-4 in the inter-club matches at Highlands last Sunday. If true, it meant eagle, birdie, bogie, in that order.

City Junior tournament gets underway at the Highlands Saturday. More than 30 young shotmakers have entered.

There was "a tremendous crowd" playing at Municipal yesterday, to quote professional Bert Gee . . . The popular Gee, a great iron player in his day, can remember when the late John Marlow scored a double eagle on Muny's 514-yard par five. Marlow hit two tremendous wood shots to take the hole apart.

Charlie Smith, who played in a foursome at Mayfair yesterday afternoon, was still chuckling about his par on the fifth at a late hour last night.

After topping his drive, hitting behind the ball on his second, and still being short of the green

YEAH, GRAY!

Masters' Bid For Canucks

TORONTO, June 8.—(CP).—A beef by Bob Gray has paid off for Canadian golf.

Gray, professional at the Scarboro Club here, said yesterday he's been informed Canada from now on will be represented in the Masters' tournament, at Augusta, Ga., United States golf classic.

Last winter he complained to Bob Harlow, editor of the magazine Golf World that Canada didn't have a looksee in the Masters.

Harlow took the matter up with the tournament committee chairman, Cliff Roberts.

Now comes word from Harlow that the committee has arranged for the winners of the Canadian Open, Canadian Professional Golfers' Association and Canadian Amateur championships to be invited to play in the Masters'.

But last night Jim was nominated for hurling chores and his mates, for a change, got him some runs. As a result, Singers took over leadership of the senior men's loop by whipping Anavets 8-2 under the lights at Kingsway.

Edna Squires threw a neat two-hitter at the young South Side Athletics in a senior ladies contest while her Mortons mates collected 10 hits off two South Side pitchers for a lop-sided 9-0 victory in a second game.

Milne was in trouble only once last night when Anavets bunched four hits and tallied their only runs in the sixth frame.

After that, Milne worked (and looked) like a master.

Anavet hitters failed to get a hit off the Singer sharpie in five innings. Shortstop Ray (Frenchy) LaLonde proved most troublesome to Milne. LaLonde collected two hits in three collected for Anavets.

Sam Shecketer was top batter for the winners, hitting three-for-five, while Doug Anderson and Colin Kilburn each banged out two safeties.

Catcher Anita Brese spoiled Squires' no-hitter with a single to centre field in the fourth frame. Maud MacLean was credited with the second South Side hit, a drive which went over the mound in the final frame.

Morton shortstop Doreen Thomas paced the winners at bat with two hits, both doubles, in four times at bat.

HIRST CHASED

Six Triumphs in Row For Railroad Squad

Lou Hiatt's high-flying CNR juniors continued their winning ways last night by downing Canadians 11-6 at Clarke Stadium in an abbreviated Junior Baseball league game.

It was Trainmen's sixth win without a loss.

Games have often been called because of darkness, wet grounds or rain, but seldom do games end the way this one did.

With two out in the bottom of the eighth, Umpire Bernie O'Connor "removed" Canadians' Mike Hirst for using obscene language. There was nobody to replace Hirst, who was at the plate. As a result the game was called.

Third sacker John Koral sparked the league-leading CNR nine, collecting three hits, including a rousing triple, in five trips to the plate.

Koral put the game on ice for Hiatt's mob by tripling in the eighth with the sacks "drunk."

Rookie Denny Locken started on the mound for Canucks but tired in the sixth to give way to Meredith The 15-year-old Locken was charged with the loss but can charge poor support by his mates

Sid "Lefty" Delino started for CNR and was credited with the win although he needed help from Dutchy Lakeman in the final two innings. Delino kept getting himself into trouble by issuing seven walks.

He struck out 13 to kind of make up.

CNR	101 302 04—11 16 3
Canadians	100 003 11— 6 6 4

Delino, Lakeman (7) and Randolph; Locken, Meredith (6) and Kuiks.
Umpires: O'Connor and Tougas.

League-Leaders Win at Kingsway

When pitcher Jim Milne takes to the mound for Singers senior men's fastball squad, his mates usually make him keep his nose to the grindstone.

LLOYDMINSTER, June 8—This town that was built largely through the efforts of a minister of the Protestant clergy, named Lloyd, was hopping like a pitcher's fast ball yesterday.

For Lloydminster's second annual baseball tournament finally got underway, after being delayed for 36 hours due to the shenanigans of the weatherman.

And nearly 6,500 fans jammed their way into the Fair Grounds to witness five games. Some 14,000 are expected for the wind-up today, which means the town's normal population of 4,500 will be tripled.

Right now the Canadian Legion, sponsors of the $1,600 taffy pull, aren't worried about anything except good weather and the gate receipts. They are likely to get barrels of both for the final games today.

Eight teams — Nellburg, Edmonton's Texaco Oilers, Westlock, Kamloops Elks, Delisle, Sceptre, Mundare and St. Paul—are alive still. Lloydminster, Lougheed, Eston, North Battleford and Maidstone fell by the wayside yesterday.

The all-colored club room Indian Head, performing like some race horses I have known, failed to show. Earlier, the Indian Head people had informed tournament officials that their team had burned out two engines of their bus on the road to Lloydminster.

But this was so much malarky, according to tourney secretary Joe Schmidt. Somebody was giving somebody the run around, and I have it on good authority that the tournament chieftains weren't running.

Delisle clipped Eston Ramblers 6-1 in the feature game.

Delisle, featuring the best known family in the west, the Bentleys, got past Eston easier than most folks expected. Negro righthander Benny Gregg limited Eston batters to six hits, struck out 12 and hit a home run to pretty much grab all the glory.

Max Bentley, Toronto Maple Leaf hockey ace also hit a round-tripper.

Sceptre, matched with Delisle this morning, came like a Saskatchewan wind in the late innings to sideline North Battleford 7-3.

Kamloops Elks repeated all over Lougheed, with rightfielder Casey Jones whacking one ball so high and far that it came down with snow on it. It travelled 425 feet according to Lloydminster statisticians, and came in the fifth to give Kamloops a commanding 4-0 lead.

Prior to that, Miller worked (and looked) like a master.

Anavet hitters failed to get a hit off the Singer sharpie in five innings. Shortstop Ray (Frenchy) LaLonde proved most troublesome to Milne. LaLonde collected two hits in three collected for Anavets.

Sam Shecketer was top batter for the winners, hitting three-for-five, while Doug Anderson and Colin Kilburn each banged out two safeties.

Catcher Anita Brese spoiled Squires' no-hitter with a single to centre field in the fourth frame. Maud MacLean was credited with the second South Side hit, a drive which went over the mound in the final frame.

Morton shortstop Doreen Thomas paced the winners at bat with two hits, both doubles, in four times at bat.

'Red' Kress Cut Off

Let's spin the sports sphere: 'Red' Kress, former major-leaguer who has come this way with several touring teams, recently was axed as manager of Sacramento Solons, Pacific Coast league. He was succeeded by Joe Marty, member of Philadelphia Nationals in the years when the Phils couldn't get out of their own way. . . . This I got a belt out of: was running down a lengthy list of ex-grads about to be honored by an eastern U.S. high school when the name TONY LOLLO came right up out of the paper. Lollo caught for Yanks, of the City Senior league, one season during the war. A real holler guy, he also was well armed.

What with all the building and repairing going, as the 'Peg and surrounding country beats back, race officials are optimistic that this will be one of the biggest meetings ever in the Manitoba capital.

Mike Martin, a recent arrival from England, tells an interesting—and touching—story about Lord Mildmay of Flete, leading English jockey (steeplechase) whose body was found floating in Falmouth bay yesterday. . . . His lordship came out of the war with one leg shorter than the other and in order to ride again it was necessary that he have his good leg broken and 'cut down to size' as it were. TD Club Members Get Special Rate

So . . . it's a bargain we are getting.

The "money-bags" of the Eskimo football organization —meaning the men entrusted with 'getting out the customers'—swept into action last night.

A meeting was held to discuss ways and means of filling the coffers of the club to the proper height. At the finish of the confab Henry Singar, tub-thumper de luxe, announced that bargain rates would be in effect this season, especially for members of the Touchdown Club.

IT'S A BARGAIN

Providing one is a member of the TD group it will be his or her good fortune to be able to purchase tickets for eight games, including seven league and an August exhibition tilt against the Canadian champion Montreal Alouettes, for $18, plus tax.

Otherwise, at the going Western Conference rate of three dollars a game, the same set of ducats will set a customer back $24.00, plus tax.

Season-ticket sale drive will be on in earnest by the middle of next week.

And while Singer was disclosing his large, economy size' ticket plan, Jerry Searight, Touchdown Club president, likewise was busy with an announcement of great importance to those kids who like their football.

Memberships in the Eskimo 'Knothole Gang' will go on sale at the Hudson's Bay Saturday morning. A booth will be set up where, for a quarter, any boy or girl, 14 years of age and under, can enroll with the 'knotholers'.

This will entitle the buyer to see Eskimo games at Clarke Stadium for another quarter, each time out. Plans already are underway to provide a special section for the Knothole Gang.

DODGERS REGAIN 1ST

Homers Feature Yanks' 5-4 Win

NEW YORK, June 8 — (CP) — New York's home run power lifted Yankees back into first place yesterday in the tense American league race as they turned back Detroit's red-hot Tigers 5-4.

Circuit clouts by Joe DiMaggio, Phil Rizzuto and Billy Johnson helped fashion the victory which ended Tigers' seven-game winning streak.

YOGI DELIVERS

A sharp grounder by Yogi Berra delivered the winning run in the seventh with the score tied 4-4, the bases loaded and two out.

Game also brought an end to the 19-game hitting streak of Detroit's Johnny Lipon.

Boston Red Sox scattered 23 hits over and out of Fenway Park in running up their largest score of the season, a 20-4 rout of the oft-beaten St. Louis Browns.

Among their hits, good for a total of 42 bases, were five home runs, two each by Vern Stephens and Clyde Vollmer, and one by Walt Dropo.

1st SHUTOUT FOR A's

In night games, Philadelphia shut out Chicago 5-0 and Washington ended a seven-game losing streak by edging Cleveland 5-4.

Over in the National league, Brooklyn Dodgers returned to sole possession of first place with a 9-0 shutout over Pittsburgh Pirates while Boston Braves were taking full advantage of crippled St. Louis Cardinals in winning 10-2.

New York's rollicking Giants posted their fifth straight victory by crushing Chicago Cubs 13-4 before 10,541 Wrigley Field fans.

Rookie Bob Miller chalked up his fourth straight victory at Cincinnati as Phillies beat the Reds 4-0.

Bobby Morgan, Brooks' short-stop, drove in four runs with two homers in leading Dodgers to victory as big Don Newcombe registered his fifth win against two defeats.

Stan Musial was added to the Cards' injury list with a cut between two fingers on his left (throwing) hand in the fifth when he took a throw from Al Brazle.

One stitch was taken. He will be out a day or two, the club trainer announced.

FIELD 'WIDE OPEN'

See September Title Fight For 'Champion' Lee Savold

By BEN PHLEGAR

LONDON, June 8.—(AP).—Promoter Jack Solomons said yesterday that Lee Savold will defend his British and European slices of the world heavyweight title in London, probably in September.

"I don't know who he will fight," Solomon said, "but I guarantee you that the man we get will be a worthy opponent."

Fight men here have suggested four guys named Joe—Louis, Maxim, Walcott and Baksi—and Ezzard Charles.

"It might be any of those," Solomon admitted, "but I won't say any more until I have the man signed to a contract. Of course I'd like to have Louis—who wouldn't? But as far as I know he is still retired.

LEE SAVOLD
. . . Bring 'Em On

"Charles has heart trouble and probably won't fight again. I have Maxim under contract but only to defend his light heavyweight title. If Bill Daly (Savold's manager) wants Maxim I would be happy to make the match."

"We want to fight and we'll take on anybody worthy of the title," Daly proclaimed.

Daly said he had received dozens of offers for Savold's services but that Solomons still has first call.

Savold personally disposed of the last British or European possibility by thrashing Bruce Woodcock, the British champion, before a sellout crowd of 50,000 here Friday night.

CINCINNATI, June 8—(AP)—Cincinnati Reds yesterday traded outfielder Ron Northey to Chicago Cubs for catcher Bob Sheffing.

MEET CALGARY

Name Squad Dyde Cup Play

Pauline Ingall, president of the Edmonton District Tennis Association, took time out last night to announce the local team that tackles Calgary Sunday in the opening inter-city Dyde cup matches of the season.

And while at it, Mrs. Ingall introduced a note of strategy into the proceedings.

★ ★ ★

Refusing to do more than name the personnel, she explained: "No, we aren't saying who's going to play in what matches. We're saying that as a surprise for Calgary."

★ ★ ★

In other words, while Johnny Stott, provincial singles king, has been named to the team, he might turn up playing in the doubles, if those directing strategy figured the Edmonton team might be stronger that way.

Other men named to the squad are Andy (Sherts) Purcell, Dr. Hal Richard, George Docherty and Frank Oliver (junior).

★ ★ ★

Feminine racquet-wielders slated to take on the crew from Cowtown are Nancy Collings, Isobel McConnell, Bessie McAvoy, Marj Forrester and oJan Tweed (junior).

Total of 13 matches will be played, starting at 1:00 p.m. Sunday, at Civil Service courts.

AABA Plans Sunday Confab

Members of the Alberta Amateur Baseball Association will meet in Calgary Sunday to discuss possibility of provincial finals in Senior 'B', Junior, juvenile and midget leagues.

Edmonton will be represented by executives of the Edmonton and District Amateur Baseball Association, including Sanford Clare, president, Doug MacKenzie, vice-president and Stan Burke secretary.

Also attending the meeting will be Earl Samis, nirthern division registrar of the AABA and secretary of Edmonton's junior league.

Meeting will be held in the Herald building, starting at 2:00 o'clock.

Gillings Blows Best Chance As Alberta 'Stars Lose 9-0

Special to The Bulletin

CALGARY, June 8—Dazzling footwork of Stanley Matthews and the prolific scoring of Jackie Sewell, Ed Wainwright and Charlie Vaughan featured the touring English Football Association all-stars' convincing 9-0 victory over Alberta All-Stars in an exhibition soccer fixture at Mewata Stadium here last night.

A crowd of close to 4,000 watched as the English side completely dominated play in all departments to such an extent they scored almost at will. But for the sterling work of Derek Crowe in the Alberta nets, score would have been much more higher.

Leading sharp-shooters on the English side were Sewell (Notts County) and Wainwright (Everton), who hit the hemp for three goals each. Vaughan (Charlton) added two goals, while Leslie Medley (Tottenham) accounted for the singleton.

The tourists moved into a 6-0 lead in the first half and then coasted to victory with three more goals in the second session.

Although he didn't figure in the scoring, the brilliant Matthews proved the idol of the crowd. Time and again he brought the fans to their feet with a scintillating display of footwork that left the desperate, but badly outclassed Alberta defenders, dazed and bewildered.

His only clear shot on goal came late in the game and the drive missed the post by inches, with Crowe well beaten.

★ ★ ★

The Albertans never stopped trying but majority of their attempts were futile against the power-packed English squad.

One of the rare chances that the home team had for a goal came late in the contest when Dave Gillings, Edmonton North Side Legion centre-forward, found himself 15 yards in front of the English goal with only netminder Stanley Hanson of Bolton to beat.

However, the Edmontonian, apparently excited, shot wide of the mark.

LINE-UPS:

England—Stanley Hanson (Bolton Wanderers); Stanley Milburn (Chesterfield) and William Etherington (Southampton); Edward Russel (Wolverhampton), Jimmy Taylor (Fulham), and Harry Johnston (Manchester United); Stanley Matthews (Blackpool), John Sewell (Notts County), Charlie Vaughan (Charlton), Edward Wainwright (Everton), and Les Medley (Tottenham).

Alberta—D. Crowe; A. Dunlop and H. Bainbrook; F. Owen, K. Sutherland and S. Laycock; A. Linder, M. Kerr, D. Gillings, H. Johnson and J. Marston.

Form Holds Good In C.S. Net Meet

It was a great occasion for the 'chalk-players'—those who like to string along with the favorites—as play continued yesterday in the annual Civil Service tennis tournament.

Johnny Stott, defending men's singles champion, set the pace as he thumped ever-trying Johnny Young 6-0, 6-2 to advance into the semi-finals.

At the same time bespectacled Alf Ingall, better known for his badminton know-how, also was battling his way into the 'fours' with a 6-3, 6-1 conquest of experienced Bob Cameron.

Stott, Ingall, George Docherty and the winner of Dr. Hal Richard-Bill Logan will fight it out for the men's crown.

Hardest fought doubles match of the day saw Logan and Graham Cathro extended to three sets before they could squeeze by Sinclair-Williams, 4-6, 6-2, 6-0.

Play continues today.

JUST CRUISING—It isn't down the river and it doesn't have to be on a Sunday afternoon, particularly, but otherwise the pictured canoe performance has all the elements which make for romance, just as in the popular song. The setting is Lac Beauvert, in Jasper Park.

Jasper Teems With Animal Life

All Kinds From Jumping Mice To Moose Cherish Protection

No matter where you go in Jasper National Park you will see wild life; comical black and brown bears of all sizes and shapes; timid fawns and older deer, all with liquid brown eyes.

part of Jasper's animal population. By some wireless system known only to themselves the wild animals seem to have communicated that fact that within the boundaries of the great park, which is a closely guarded game preserve, they are safe from molestation and can be "shot" only with a camera.

Because of the precautions taken by park rangers and RCMP to safeguard wild life in Jasper, the animal life is increasing by leaps and bounds; not only from stock already within the park but from those coming from the big game hunting regions in the surrounding areas.

SHEEP AND GOATS

One of the great thrills of Jasper National Park is to see on the rocky ledges of a mountainside a flock of beautiful big horn sheep or a herd of mountain goats. Another sight to be remembered is a graceful doe and her fawn drinking from the emerald green waters of Lac Beauvert or a half-glimpse of the velvet black or rich brown coating of a couple of clubs making off through the underbrush.

Elk are plentiful in Jasper and may be seen any evening along the Pocahontas Drive, within a mile of the grounds of Jasper Park Lodge. As a matter of fact the greens of the championship Jasper Park Lodge golf course have to be fenced in during the winter months to protect them from the sharp hooves of the elk, who have a particular fondness for creeping bent grass.

Park officials estimate that Jasper's elk herds now number in excess of 10,000.

CARIBOU TOO

Persistent hunting of caribou in the open areas adjacent to the park, has forced large numbers of these interesting animals to take up permanent residence within it. They inhabit Snake, Indian and Tonquin valleys in ever-increasing numbers. The mule deer, distinguished by their large, funnel ears, are found almost anywhere in Jasper, and their delicate grace and fearlessness add much to the interest of the park's wild life.

Moose, too, are plentiful in Jasper, and may be seen placidly grazing along the banks of the Athabasca river almost any evening. Moose are naturally shy and seldom come near the buildings, but they can easily be photographed along several of the motor roads.

The beaver also appreciates the protection and signs of his work are to be seen along most of the lakes and streams in gnawed trees, ledges, canals and dams. There is a family of them in Lac Beauvert and they furnish plenty of interest to guests, particularly at twilight when the beaver starts work.

SMALLER ANIMALS

There is, of course, the "fretful" porcupine, one of the most placid, inoffensive and inactive of all animals. Rocky Mountain marmot, known as "Whistlers," live in Jasper. About the size of a house cat, they are particularly noted for their clear, sharp, piercing whistle. There is a small, greyish animal the size of a Guinea pig, with rounded ears, short legs and no visible tail. There is the pike, cony or little chief hare of the mountains, also called the "haymaker."

The marten, otter, fisher and mink are also to be found in Jasper. Among the smaller animals are the common hare, the northern chipmunk and the Canadian mountain chipmunk, and several squirrels. Jumping mice are found in the high open meadow above timber line at Maligne Lake, and the bushy-tailed pack rat, whose freakish nocturnal activities form the theme of many an amusing story told around a trail campfire.

Timber wolves are seldom found.

An occasional grizzly and wolverine may be seen in the high alpine meadows but usually from a distance, for they are wary and the photographer who wants a picture of them will be wise to bring a telephoto lens with him.

MANY LAKES FOR PADDLERS IN BIG PARK

The placid waters of Lac Beauvert, and Lakes Patricia, Pyramid, Annette, Edith, Medicine, and Maligne appeal to those who love the "song of the paddle." As the shadows of evening descend, beautiful sunsets reflect myriads of colors that forever remain in memory's picture gallery. Ambitious paddlers may choose a voyage down the Athabasca river, where portages are few and thrills are frequent.

Boats propelled by motor power are not allowed on park waters without written permission of the superintendent.

Swiss Guides Like Women As Climbers

LAKE LOUISE.—Two Swiss mountain guides, Walter Perren, 36, and Edmund Petrig, 32, have arrived here to commence their first season as mountain guides at the Chateau Lake Louise.

Both natives of Zermatt, Switzerland, where they spent the last 10 years guiding parties up the hazardous walls of the Matterhorn, Mont Blanc and other noted Swiss peaks, the two will begin their guide services June 10.

The guides, who received their basic training at a school operated for guides by the Swiss government, have already set their sights on likely climbing objectives in the Immediate Lake Louise area. These include 11,626 ft. Mount Temple, 11,365 ft. Mount Victoria and Mount Whyte.

They will cater to the greenest would-be mountaineer or the seasoned alpinist.

"It doesn't take long to size our prospects up" Perren says. "We have a pretty good idea of what they can take and what they can't take and act accordingly."

WOMEN OKAY

Perren, who has lost count of his Matterhorn ascents, has high praise for women alpinists. "They're every bit as good as the men," he says, "and sometimes a heck of a lot better."

The guides will carry on a tradition started when the CPR brought over three guides from Switzerland at the end of the last century and subsequently erected a model Swiss village for their descendents at Edelweiss, near Golden, B.C. They will succeed such well known Lake Louise veteran guides as Edouard and Ernest Feuz, Rudolph Aemmer and the late Christian Hasler.

Cordasun Casgama Gets 330-Foot Rise

By C. V. Myers
Bulletin Oil Editor

Cordasun Casagama No. 2 about four miles northeast of British Empire Stettler got a rise of 330 feet on testing in the lower Cretaceous slightly above 4,258 feet.

The top 180 feet was clean oil, the lower 150 feet was reported as oil cut mud.

It was an encouraging show as the well continued to core for better pay. New tests are expected in the next 24 hours.

PAST ANSWER DEPTH

Meanwhile Imperial Superior Joseph Lake was getting past the predicted answer depth which had been set as at around 4,320 feet.

The well was below 4,400 feet yesterday and there was still no news. Coring was continuing and another 24 hours was going to have to tell the D-2 story.

The wildcat found gas and oil in the Viking sand, a small amount of water in the lower cretaceous. It is being drilled principally as a Devonian test.

★ ★ ★

Imperial Oil Limited completed another Opal and another Simmons well Wednesday to increase its Redwater field total to 212 wells, and the field's total to 471.

The company also chose a new Opal site.

New successes are Opal No. 12, in lsd 4 of 21-58-2w4th, and Imperial-Hudson's Bay Simmons No. 3, in lsd 3 of section 26-50-21w4th. The Opal well was completed at 3,210 feet and the Simmons venture finished at 3,265 feet. They have both been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid and are now waiting to run initial potential tests.

Imperial's new selection is a north offset to the completed Opal 12 well, Opal No 13, in lsd 5 of is now being moved in.

★ ★ ★

New British Dominion Oil Company Ltd., has acquired Canadian Gulf Oil Company's half interest in five quarter-sections in township 38, range 21w4th, about four miles northwest of Devonian production in the Stettler field, and near the Picadilly-Interleduc-Laguerre No. 1 well which got a 945-foot rise of oil from the Lower Cretaceous last week.

The remaining half interest in the land is held by the Picadilly-Interleduc team. Gulf is retaining the Devonian rights on the land involved.

British Courts Slow Getting Irrigation Titles

OTTAWA, June 8.—Delay in obtaining British-held titles to land in the Medicine Hat irrigation block is hampering settlement of the area by farmers from sub-marginal lands on the prairies.

The statement was made in Commons yesterday by Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner. Mr. Gardiner spoke during a discussion which preceded passage of amending clauses to the Prairie Farm Assistance Act. The bill will now go to the Senate for approval.

Mr. Gardiner said the federal government is prepared to spend $2,879,750 to buy titles and prepare land for settlement in the Canada Land and Irrigation block, near Medicine Hat and Vauxhall.

Obtaining of titles to the land, much of which is held by Britishers, is being delayed "because the law is slow enough in this country . . . but it is much slower over on the other side of the ocean."

PRODDING FAILS

The government, he said "is moving heaven and earth to try to get the titles cleared but we cannot speed up the courts."

He suggested land titles might be put in order by the middle of this summer.

As soon as that is done, farmers from sub-marginal areas of the prairies will be moved to the irrigation block.

Mr. Gardiner said the Alberta government is opening up an area a little larger than the Canada Land and Irrigation block. Federal authorities were assisting Alberta "by widening the ditch and enabling them to get the water to their own project."

ONE CLOSED, ONE OPEN

Land in the Alberta-sponsored irrigation block will be available to Albertans only, with returned veterans being given preference. Under the federal sponsored scheme, farmers from sub-marginal regions in other parts of Canada will be allowed to settle the irrigated area.

Canadians' No. 1 Problem Is Investment

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., June 8.—(CP)—J. A. Boyer of Montreal, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, today presented a challenge to Canadians.

In effect it was this:

If you want your dollar, or your $100 or $1,000 to earn something for you, then invest it in Canada. If you don't, others will.

Following is the way he said it, in an address to the annual meeting of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada:

"As I see it, the number one problem challenging all thoughtful men, is that of stimulating investment-mindedness among all Canadians; getting them seized of the opportunities to participate in sound ventures, so that Canadians themselves will share more widely in the dividends and rewards from development of Canada's resources.

CHALLENGING

"To overcome the seeming lethargy of money-savers in respect of these opportunities for gain which await the bold, is a challenge which awaits serious study."

And then he went on to explain some of the hedges which surround a banker:

"No matter how strongly a banker, as an individual, may feel that Canadians should get in on worthwhile venture-promotions of their own countrymen, and in their own country, a bank will not actually recommend to a person that he put his money into any particular stock, bond or venture—the one exception being Dominion of Canada issues."

Fort Frances Takes Action On Flood Threat

FORT FRANCES, Ont., June 8.—(CP)—All able-bodied men today were called out to sandbag the Point Park area of Fort Frances as Rainy Lake edged within a fraction of an inch of its all-time high.

High water which had already eaten away large chunks of shoreline began pouring over the road fronting a cluster of cottages. An east wind such as blew yesterday would cause serious damage to shoreline and property.

The huge J. A. Mathieu sawmill, four miles northeast of here on Rainy's shore, was closed down last night after a week-long battle to keep the mill open.

OTTAWA. — (CP) — Canada is buying most of her sugar requirements from the British West Indies and likely will continue to do so for a long period of time, a government trade expert said yesterday.

The fact that the West Indies enjoys a preferred tariff position in Canada is the "best guarantee" of that colony's sugar market in this country, the expert said.

He was commenting on a dispatch from London which intimated that the United Kingdom had to decline a West Indies request that the U.K. guarantee sugar prices from 1953 to 1957 for 725,000 tons—instead of the U.K.'s offer of 640,000 tons—because Canada no longer purchased sugar from the British food ministry.

Canadian Atom Scientist Claims Proof Of Theory

KINGSTON, Ont., June 8—(BUP)—A Canadian atom scientist claimed today he has "proven the basic theory of radio-activity.

J. M. Robson, a research expert at Canada's Chalk River atom plant, told the annual meeting of the Royal Society of Canada he has discovered a new atomic measurement which calculated energy lost in radio-active decay.

"This difficult experiment affords an important check that the basic theory of radio-activity is correct," explained officials of the National Research Council in Ottawa.

Robson previously established that one of the basic particles of atomic nuclei, neutron, was not permanent when free, but split within a few minutes of radio-active decay.

The split resulted in a proton and an electron, components of the common hydrogen atom. The neutron is the simplest radio active body, and scientists said the method of its decay was important to a fundamental understanding of radio-activity.

Robson told the Royal Society he was able to measure the energy carried off by the electrons in the split.

The vastness of Robson's discovery was illustrated in this way:

At the Chalk River atomic pile, neutrons are given off at a rate of 10,000,000,000 per second. But Robson found the number of electrons of a selected energy which he counted, streamed by at the rate of one every two minutes.

In other words, there was one of the special electrons for every 1,200,000,000,000 neutrons.

Two Roosevelts May Seek Office As Governors

WASHINGTON, June 8—(UP)—Two Roosevelts may be running for governor next November in big states where the job reasonably could nourish presidential ambitions.

Wheat Bd. Chairman Blames Marshall Plan For Sales Cut

OTTAWA, June 8.—(CP)—A wheat expert indicates that United States Marshall Plan aid is hitting into Canadian wheat sales.

George McIvor, chairman of the Canadian Wheat Board, told the Commons agricultural committee yesterday that many of Canada's traditional customers are unable to buy Canadian wheat because they receive Marshall Plan aid which requires them to buy American supplies.

At the same time the Bureau of Statistics reported that the wheat supplies available for export and carry-over in all parts of the world have climbed from 740,000,000 bushels at May 1 a year ago to 867,000,000 bushels, an increase of 118,000,000 bushels.

This increase in world supply, coupled with the loss of some traditional markets through Marshall aid policy may form two vital factors in the sale of Canadian wheat in the new crop year beginning next August.

McIVOR QUIZZED

Negotiations under the International Wheat Agreement will open up in London before the new crop year begins. The pact prices next year call for a minimum of $1.54 and a maximum of $1.98 a bushel. Canada has been getting $2 a bushel this year from the United Kingdom, her biggest overseas wheat market.

Mr. McIvor, who makes his headquarters in Winnipeg, testified as the Commons committee opened study of the board's 1948-49 report.

He was asked by opposition members why Canadian wheat, sold to customers other than Britain, was 35 to 40 cents a bushel below U.S. levels.

FIGURES DROP

The reason, said Mr. McIvor, was because much of the U.S. wheat went to areas in which the U.S. has responsibility, such as Germany and Japan. It was a case of one U.S. government agency selling wheat to another government agency.

"They give it away," interjected Trade Minister Howe, a committee member, who is responsible to the government for Canada's foreign wheat sales.

Examples of traditional Canadian customers who have been forced to forego Canadian supplies, said Mr. McIvor, are the Netherlands and Norway. The Netherlands normally took a yearly shipment of 10,000,000 bushels of Canadian grain but took only 361,000 in 1948-49. Norway's normal allotment was from 3,000,000 to 4,000,000. It dropped to 857,000 in the same year.

The Bureau's world summary of wheat availability was based on reports from the four major exporting countries—Canada, the United States, Australia and Argentina.

MOISTURE BAD

Canadian supplies dropped to 172,000,000 from 382,000,000 and Argentine's holdings to 80,000,000 from 84,000,000. Australia supplies climbed fro m82,000,000 to 110,000,000.

The bureau said the 1950 North American wheat crop outlook was "uncertain at this time."

Helping to obscure the outlook was the deterioration of the moisture situation on Canada's prairies.

High winds over much of Alberta and Saskatchewan, said the bureau, have seriously depleted surface moisture and soil drifting has caused considerable damage. In Manitoba, seeding is nearly complete in central and northern areas but is just getting under way in the flooded regions.

Beware the Yo-Yo!

I'm kind of disturbed over the return to popularity of the yo-yo.

Remember the last time everybody was playing with yo-yos? It was in that frightening period known as the hungry thirties.

Never was quite able to figure out whether the yo-yo caused the depression or was the result of it.

★ ★ ★ ★

Some hold that millions quit work and went on relief because it gave them more time to polish up the yo-yo art.

Others say people started playing with yo-yos because there wasn't anything else to do and they forgot how hungry they were while concentrating on improved yo-yo technique.

'Taken' To Cleaners

Pretty Eileen Allen, who clerks at the Service Drug Store, 11213 Jasper Avenue, found out yesterday it's possible to make money on being "taken to the cleaners."

Eileen was suffering from a disgustingly chronic complaint. She was short of money.

But she had a coat that just had to be cleaned. She slipped it on and started walking to the cleaning establishment.

Eileen put her hands in the coat pockets. She found 55 cents in one pocket and a thumping dollar and 10 cents in the other pocket.

Edmontonians are going daffy over Chinese food.

So three enterprising Edmonton Chinese, Bill Mah, Bing Mah and Harry Leong, have started something new for Alberta.

Known as the Chi-Del, their place is not a restaurant. There's just an office and a big kitchen at 9924 109 street.

The business has been operating for a little over a month but the owners are really enthused.

The big orders come from house parties, birthday parties, weddings, anniversaries and the like. (The firm is delivering 160 orders for one party this week-end), but small families and individuals like oriental food too.

It's a wonderful thing for the newly-wed hubby who just can't tell his darling that her cooking is ruining his stomach.

Noted among the really good customers is clothier Henry Singer.

Southsider Fred Morie berated me mildly yesterday for leaving his name off the South Side honor roll.

I offer my humble apology, because Fred still calls the South Side, Strathcona. Fred lived across the river when the Redskins were still in the habit of giving pale-faces permanent crew cuts.

Another Fish Story

Just had a letter from a fishing enthusiast named "Red" Trudel.

"Red" says he went out last week-end equipped to catch a school of fish but figures it must have been a school holiday.

He writes: "All I could catch was a mermaid named "Epey." She was a land mermaid and not bad either."

As for catching fish, "Red" concludes with:

"I think I'll be content with getting my fish at Jones' Fish Market from now on."

Publicity Group Asks Action On Its Action

The "put Edmonton on the map committee" wants something done about what it has done.

With some prodding from Dick Rice, chairman of the "put Edmonton on the map" committee, city council's finance committee last night agreed to call a special meeting for 8 p.m. June 14 to discuss the question.

City Council several months ago approved the slogan, "Edmonton, Gateway to the North," suggested by Mr. Rice's group, but shoved it back in the finance body's lap the ticklish problem of implementing the lengthy brief which accompanied the slogan.

The brief went into the detailed ways and means of selling Edmonton and its wonders and advantages to the rest of the world.

At the June 14 effort to settle the questions there will be members of the finance committee, the map committee, Town Planner Noel Dant, representatives of the Exhibition Association, and others interested.

Veteran CNR Express Worker, Bailey Retires

Veteran employe of the Canadian National Express, Richard "Dick" Bailey, 10593-101 street is retiring June 16.

Mr. Bailey, 63, who is regarded by fellow workers as "one of the best fellows in the CN Express," has been employed by the Canadian National Railways since 1911.

He began working in Winnipeg as a porter. Following his return from the war in 1919, Mr. Bailey worked as a messenger in Winnipeg until his transfer to Edmonton in 1931.

In Edmonton he continued as a messenger to 1943 where he once again changed jobs, this time clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey plan to move to Vancouver.

Age and Experience at Farm Show

REPEAT winner in plowing match yesterday was Len Job, man of experience who held last year's honors.

YOUTH won out when Alan Bevington, 14, Winterburn, copped tilling championship in first year as worker.

SOME day Dennis Leight, five, Hay Lakes, will be in there pitching . . . right now he's practicing.

Winners Of All Ages Top Farming Contests

Youth and experience both won honors yesterday in the provincial championship plowing and tilling contest held in South Edmonton.

The 1950 tiller champion is 14-year-old Alan Bevington, Winterburn.

Repeat winner in the plowing class is Len Job, the 1949 champion who lived up to pre-match predictions by turning the best and straightest furrow of the hotly-contested match.

SURPRISED

The youthful tiller champion who only learned to drive a tractor last year, appeared the most surprised person in the contest when informed he was top man. The youngster had already left the site of the match on the John Morris farm at Rabbit Hills, and was making the long trip home to Winterburn when the results were announced.

"He nearly fell off the tractor," when stopped later by a Bulletin reporter and informed of his victory.

Runner-up in the plowing competition was Fred Riske of Lacombe, who was half a point behind the winner. He was last year's Lacombe district champion, where he edged out Mr. Job.

Third place in the record-breaking contest, witnessed by an estimated 6,000 spectators, went to Bryce Woodrow, also of Lacombe, who won the Clyde Gillies trophy for the highest placing novice plowman.

SECOND PLACE

In the tiller section, second place was won by Alex Zeigler, Winterburn, last year's champion. He also shared some of the winning honors as coach of the youthful champion.

A second youth ended in the money when 10-year-old Bill Saramaga, also of Winterburn, the youngest contestant in the match, ended up with third place honors. The tiny tractorman received a cheer from the crowd after the match for his masterful handling.

Further honors went to Saramaga family when father Matt was awarded a silver spoon for the best finish. Silver spoon for best top went to runner-up Fred Riske. The Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce special award for the best plowman under 18 went to Jack Lewis, Winterburn, winner of the 4-5 bottom plow class.

Tiller champion Alan Bevington made an almost complete sweep of the additional awards, taking the Junior Chamber of Commerce special, the Bates special award for the best novice, and the silver spoon for the best strike-out.

BREWERS AID FLOOD FUND

Donation of $5,000 to flood relief was approved at a meeting of the Alberta Brewers in Edmonton recently.

A cheque for the amount is being forwarded immediately to the Manitoba Flood Relief Committee, officials of the brewers association said.

Motor Branch Boosts Members

Edmonton branch of Alberta Motor Association is showing a steady increase in membership over previous years.

There was an increase of 300 regular members in May, 1950, over the same month last year, according to the report submitted to the directors. Present membership is 1,400.

Associate members increased from 870 in May, 1949, to 1,196 in May of this year. A combined increase of 626 for the month.

Junior Chamber Review Shows Past Year Busy

Edmonton's Junior Chamber of Commerce last night looked back over a busy year.

Activity which ranged in 1949-550 from producing musical shows to painting boulevard curbs was summarized by retiring president Lyle Johnson.

Johnson paid tribute to the spirit shown by Jaycees in raising money for civic betterment and in beautifying and boosting the city.

There was the Jaycee welcome given to the Toronto Good Will Tour last July, the stage musical "There Goes Yesterday," the Winnipeg Flood Relief Fund Tag Day and many others.

Johnson's report was followed by election of George Berge, 10013-110 street, as president for the following year.

Other executive members are Joe Westman, executive vice-president and Allan Palmour, Alex McGregor and T. A. Hamilton, vice-presidents.

Councillors chosen were Ian Cavanaugh, Barry Wildman, Don Hamly, Don McCannel, Bunny Moffat, Russ Sheppard and Don Gilmore. Secretary and treasurer will be appointed by the executive later.

Jaycees regretfully announced curtailment of their famous "Vancouver or bust" car caravan over the Yellowknife route to the national Junior Chamber of Commerce convention June 18-21 in Vancouver. Because of heavy spring run-off in mountain streams, which jeopardizes road travel in the pass, the caravan will be formed on an individual basis instead of from the whole Edmonton Jaycee membership.

But members were much happier over another bit of convention business, the putting forward of Colin C. Campbell, past Jaycee president here, as national chairman. It was learned he will be unopposed in western Canada for the honor and will be up against only two other candidates, both from Montreal.

Court Takes Drug 'Slang'

Use of slang was instrumental in convicting one alleged narcotics peddler and committing another to Supreme Court trial in Police Court Wednesday afternoon.

Norene Wardrop was sentenced to six months in jail and John Forbes was committed to stand trial.

The slang was the "jargon" of drug peddlers who never refer to their wares by their proper names, according to evidence presented.

"If the crown has to prove a direct reference to the drug by its technical name, I doubt whether there would ever be any convictions whatsoever," observed Magistrate S. G. Main.

TERMS

Crown star witness, Constable Glenwood Skaftfeld, RCMP drug squad, explained the terms used by drug addicts and peddlers on the basis of his seven and one-half months' experience among them in Vancouver during late 1947 and early 1948.

Brought to Edmonton he became [illegible] with [illegible] John Forbes and Norene Wardrop during May through "a man known only to me as Harry," he [illegible] the Court.

Corp. Herbert Silver, RCMP, in charge of narcotics investigation here, arranged for Skaftfeld to meet the mysterious "Harry," according to evidence.

"Harry" and Forbes met Skaftfeld outside a downtown hotel on the evening of May 7, according to the witness. He related how he had told "Harry" and Forbes that "I can only go for one—I haven't got enough scratch for two."

Skaftfeld explained this meant he couldn't afford $20 each for two capsules of heroin, so he only contracted for one.

MONEY PAID

He said he paid Forbes the money and "Harry" and Forbes left the room. Later in the evening, he said "Harry" brought a gelatine capsule wrapped in silver paper to his hotel room.

This capsule, identified as one turned over to Corp. Silver, was said by provincial government analyst Dr. James Kelso to contain heroin.

Constable Skaftfeld and "Harry" also figured in the Wardrop case, the wo[illegible] Skaftfeld by the man known only as Harry," according to evidence.

House Plan Is Not Likely For This Year

Neither Province, Dominion Will Arrange Subsidization

Practically all hope of any substantial rental housing project for Edmonton this year, backed by federal and provincial governments, has died.

So Mayor Sid Parsons thinks, following extensive discussions with Hon. A. J. Hooke provincial minister of economic affairs.

"There is apparently no intention on the part of either provincial or federal governments to enter any subsidization policy for construction this year," he said.

LOAN IDEA

The mayor suggested the province [illegible] "two per cent money" to either or both Edmonton and Calgary in the form of direct loans for self-liquidating projects.

"My own opinion is that it is too late for this year, though," he said.

He said further talks will be held by Mr. Hooke with the provincial [illegible] further city-provincial meetings for an early 1951 start on some form of rental housing scheme.

"That will depend on a decision whether that type of housing is deemed necessary, and on whether the city and province can agree."

Debate Over Borden Park

Proposed Edmonton Exhibition annexation of 300 feet of Borden Park precipitated [illegible] at last night's finance committee meeting, but not an inch of progress toward a decision.

Aldermen agreed to Ald. William Hawrelak's motion that, in view of the fact that exhibition extension onto part of Borden Park is tied up with the whole zoo question the matter should be tabled until St. Louis zoo architect John E. Wallace surveys the situation.

PROTEST

Duncan Innes, representing the Federation of Community Leagues, protested against anything being done to subtract area from Borden Park.

"Slice by slice, eventually Borden Park will be gone," he said.

It is time the whole Exhibition was moved outside city limits, as has been done by other cities, said Mr. Innes.

He suggested it is a good time to ask for an accounting by the Exhibition Association, and said he has heard that it is a private corporation controlled by those not even residents of the city.

Mr. Innes criticized the "nebulous nature" of the association's plans for use of the area in Borden Park, and asked for sufficient delay to allow all community leagues and others concerned, to study them fully.

Exhibition Manager James Paul said the association issues a public statement of its finances every year, and that most shareholders are city residents.

Mr. Paul also admitted, in answer to Ald. Hawrelak's question, that the additional area will be of no use without removal of the zoo. It is needed for additional parking space this year, and development later to provide for a provincial government exhibit building and for a kiddies play area.

Agreement On Way West

The federal-provincial irrigation agreement covering the St. Mary and Milk River area in Alberta has been sent on its journey westward last week, an agriculture department official said today in Ottawa.

He was commenting on a statement in Edmonton by agriculture minister David Ure of Alberta that the agreement had not been delivered to Alberta and this delay was jeopardizing Canadian claims on international waters of southern Alberta.

The agreement had been mailed last week to Dr. L. B. Thomson, the federal director of the prairie farm rehabilitation program, Regina, who was to have the agreement delivered to the provincial government.

Women Today

STEAK AND POTATOES? Yes, you eat well tomorrow on the Nine-Day diet but you'll lose from 5 to 10 pounds during the nine days. If you want the diet booklet, send a dime and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD

Diet Gives All Elements Needed for Best Health

By Josephine Lowman

My Nine-Day Reducing Diet can be repeated if you have more weight to lose.

If you repeat this diet more than once you might add a little to it. You might increase the size of the portions a little. Do NOT do this if you are going to use it for nine or eighteen days only. I am speaking of the longer reducing period.

This diet could well form the framework for healthful eating. If you stick to the diet for a long period do not increase it with cake and candy, but with some whole grain cereal or an extra glass of milk.

DON'T CUT IT

Some "eager beavers" even cut the calorie count lower than my menus afford. Do not leave items off the Nine-Day Diet. It is planned carefully, to give you the essentials of good health and is already low enough.

Do not feel afraid of the baked potatoes on the list. One baked potato gives you only about 90 calories and you need some carbohydrate in your food intake.

(THIRD DAY)

Breakfast
One orange
One cup coffee

Luncheon
One medium hamburger cake (cooked without butter and made of lean meat)
Celery sticks
One glass skimmed milk
Two raw carrots

Dinner
Small lean steak
One-half cup cauliflower
One baked potato. (No butter.
Medium sized potato has only about 90 calories)
One apple

If you have missed some of the menus or would like them complete in booklet form, send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for the "Nine-Day Reducing Diet" booklet. Address your letter to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Find New Method To Produce Insulin

Diabetics will now be able to get more insulin for less money in a short time.

This will be made possible by a new and accurate test for the presence of insulin, plus a new method devised for producing the drug.

New Method of production is so much simpler than the old slow elaborate process that it will probably increase production and reduce the cost of insulin considerably.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Claims Women Responsible For Most Broken Homes

"It's the women who are responsible for most of the broken homes," said a man the other day.

The fact that women are the petitioners in three-fourths of the divorce cases isn't ust a galant gesture on the part of men to give ladies what they want, no matter whether it is coming to them or not; neither does it mean that men are less satisfactory as husbands than women are as wives.

It simply means that a woman will throw a marriage into the junk pile just as she would a piece of china that was nicked or that she had got tired of, while a man will go on making it serve even if it has got a little cracked and he has sort of lost his taste for it.

"Perhaps the reason for this is that women have a more romantic ideal of husbands than husbands have of wives. Or it may be that women expect more of marriages than men do. Most likely it is because women have less idea of the binding nature of a contract than men have, so they have no compunctions about welching on one if it doesn't come up to all their fondest fancy painted.

"It is women who return things to the bargain counter if they decide that, after all, they don't want it when they get it home and give it the once over. But a man feels that he has to keep a thing that he has bought unless he has been cheated in the transaction.

HUSBANDS ENDURE MORE

"At any rate, wives won't stand for the things in their husbands that husbands meekly endure in their wives. Thousands of women, for instance, get divorces from their husbands because they are not good providers, but you never hear of a man getting a divorce from his wife because she isn't a good housekeeper.

"Women broadcast to the world what brutes their husbands are if they are surly and abusive, but you never hear the ben-pecked and nagged husbands telling woes.

"Women consider themselves martyrs if they are married to men who take them for granted and never show them any affection or tenderness, but the men who are married to human refrigerators, and who spend their lives toiling to support women who never give them a pat on the head, just charge it off to profit and loss of matrimony, and say to themselves that if Marla's kisses are cold her pie is always hot, and let it go at that.

"So, if the matter were left to men, there would not be many broken homes. Having made their matrimonial bargains, they would stick to them. Marriage might not be all they expected of it; well, neither did that last batch of cloth they bought go up the way they thought it would. Susie hasn't turned out to be the pin-feathered angel she looked to be during the days of courtship.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Necessary to Teach Value of Cleanliness

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The subject of worms crops up in this column periodically. I realize its importance to parents, but, also, that there can be no medical advice given about it. This is not a medical column and so the best I can do is to suggest a doctor who will diagnose worms and then treat them according to their types.

A reader's emphasis on the need for personal cleanliness is something that can bear repetition. It is quite possible, I believe, for a parent to deem some medical treatment a failure only because she has not recognized the importance of preventing the child—or adult—from unconscious reinoculation of himself through carelessness.

Mrs. C. M. E. writes, "I discovered when my child was two years of age—and still using a nursery chair—that he had intestinal worms. A laxative disclosed great numbers of them and the doctor advised medicine. I had to discontinue it because it made the child so ill.

MEDICINE NO HELP

"A laxative also showed that every member of the family had worms. We took medicines for a time with discouraging results. Then I studied the life history of pin worms until I knew it thoroughly and I decided that we could easy to rid ourselves of them through cleanliness.

"We had always used a community kitchen towel. I urged each member of the family to use a towel of his own and to wash, not scrub, his hands with soap and water. It had to be done gently naturedly and without nagging. After a few weeks of tact and patience and no medication we all got rid of the worms.

HOW THEY SPREAD

It should be explained that the worm eggs can get under the finger nails and be transferred to food or scratched into the skin and the whole cycle can begin again of worm eggs hatching of worms, becoming fertile, laying eggs, etc.

I think families should be self-conscious about using education-ally in yards where there are dogs who contaminate the yards. This might be ONE way to get worms.

TEAMMATES in home and business, Mr. and Mrs. E. Krausher of Winnipeg are visiting in Edmonton this week. They are guests at Macdonald hotel.

'Marriage Vs. Career' Problem Easily Solved By Krausher

By Irene Bowerman

None other like her—that's Mrs. E. Krausher, formerly Fern Robins, of Winnipeg, Man.

Mrs. Krausher is unique, for she is the only woman sales-manager in housewear and hardware lines in the Dominion.

Western Salesmanager of Superhealth Albminum Company, until six weeks ago she was Salesmanager for all Canada. She changed her name and her position when she married E. Krausher and moved from Toronto to Winnipeg.

Mrs. Krausher proves a career and a husband can go hand in hand. Mr. Krausher is Western Manager for Canada Printing Ink Co., and both Mr. and Mrs. Krausher now have their headquarters in Winnipeg. Not only that, their territories are identical, and so the couple can make all their business trips together.

FIRST LOVE SELLING

Mrs. Krausher has been in the selling business since she first started to work, except for a brief period of time when she turned to newspaper and radio. A serious throat operation made her abandon her radio career and return to saleswork.

In charge of demonstrators and salesmen, Mrs. Kushner travels more as an advisor than a saleswoman.

Mr. Krausher is well-known by Edmonton businessmen in the printing business, and has 18 accounts here. His business is more than just selling, for he also composes formulas for specialty ink jobs.

NORTHAMPTON, England—(CP)—Magistrates here fined a fellow magistrate, Col. R. M. Raynsford, 7s 6d ($1.05) for [illegible] dog without a licence.

King Edward Park Officers Elected

New slate of officers for King Edward Park Community League were elected Monday night at the regular meeting.

President of the League is S. Parker. Other members of the executive are Mrs. W. Paltineer, vice-president; Mrs. J. Fishbourne, treasurer; Mrs. H. B. McKim, secretary; Mrs. K. Duggan, social convener; Mrs. J. Allen, membership; Mrs. C. Groves Sr., publicity; D. Lawrence, sports chairman, and S. Southorne, improvement chairman.

Meeting decided to have treats for the opening of the Playgrounds on June 17.

Clipped Two Ways

SUPERIOR, Wis.—(UP)—Harry Griffin thought he was being clipped, so he walked away with the instrument that did the job. He told Judge Claude Cooper that $1 seemed a pretty stiff price for a haircut, unless it included the barber's clippers. Griffin was fined $50.

WEDDING OF INTEREST in Edmonton recently was marriage of Miss Lorraine Jean O'Neil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. O'Neil of Moose Portage, Alta., to Dewey Grant Brown. Couple will take up residence in Smith, Alta., home of bridegroom.

Pat Gunn Weds Jack Underhill In Ceremony at Norwood Church

Bouquets of lilac and spring flowers decorated Norwood United Church at the recent wedding of Miss Patricia Charlotte Gunn and John Colin Underhill.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. W. Gunn of Edmonton. Bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Underhill of Regina. Rev. J. T. Stephens officiated at the ceremony.

Wearing a dress of original design, the bride walked down the aisle with her father, who gave her away in marriage. Her dress was of white nylon marquisette with a satin bodice and collar. It featured an inset yolk of white nylon marquisette, and lily-point sleeves. Full nylon skirt was set off by three evenly distributed satin stripes, and terminated in a slight train.

Bride's veil was of nylon marquisette edged with satin. It was held by a "pope" bonnet, and was full length with short chapel veil. Only jewelry worn by the bride was an opal pendant, gift of the groom.

PASTEL SHADE

Miss Norma Scanlan of Saskatoon and Miss Rosemary Farian attended the bride. They were dressed in lime green and yellow brocaded organdy cocktail length dresses, and carried bouquets of pastel gladioli and daisies. In their hair they wore bands of sweetheart rose buds and carnations.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Ted Underhill. Peter and Tommy Gunn, bride's brothers, were ushers.

Soloist during the service was Barbara Sproule, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

Bride's mother wore a navy blue faille dress with polka dot trim, navy milan hat and accessories, and corsage of pink roses. Pink mesh dress with navy accessories and Talisman rose corsage was worn by the bridegroom's mother.

AT SEVEN SEAS

Reception for 65 guests was held at the Seven Seas. Three-tiered wedding cake formed the centre' decoration on the table.

For her going-away outfit the bride chose a cream suit with baby blue accessories, topped by a black and white plaid coat.

Following a wedding trip through Waterton Lakes, Glacier National Park, and the Western States, the couple will make their temporary home in Edmonton.

Finch's 'Dopey' Gets Wanderlust

LADYSMITH, B.C. — (CP) — Spring may mean the end of a beautiful friendship here—a friendship between Rosey, a motherly purple finch and Dopey, a puny sparrow.

This story had its beginning during British Columbia's cold, cold winter. Dopey, hungry and friendless, wandered into the bird-feeding station of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Collinge where big-hearted Rosey is a permanent boarder.

Although he was obviously starving Dopey couldn't manage the big swollen wheat flakes provided for him.

"He was a shabby little thing," said Mrs. Collinge, "and we didn't think he had a chance of survival. But an amazing thing happened."

Rosey went to work. She taught the little sparrow to break the big wheat flakes into smaller pieces. She huddled against him to keep him warm. She defended him from other birds.

In short, she adopted him. And Dopey thrived.

But with spring, a strong and healthy Dopey probably will leave his foster mother to see the world. Rosey, says Mrs. Collinge, will miss him.

Robertson WA Meets At Church Monday

Regular monthly meeting of the Women's Association, Robertson United Church was held Monday.

Mrs. J. A. Leask, president, presided over the meeting. Devotional was in charge of Mrs. Lee Dalliaon. Soloist at the afternoon meeting was Mrs. Richard Reid, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Heath MacDonald.

At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served. Mrs. J. McElroy Thompson poured, and Mrs. A. E. Flood and Mrs. W. H. Pettigrew assisted in serving.

LONDON —(CP)— Postmaster-general Ness Edwards says steps are being taken to raise the standard of cleanliness in telephone kiosks. He said he would not introduce "no smoking" notices in booths—they would be ineffective.

Margaret Fleming Pledges Vows With Campbell Ellis Byers

Mid-afternoon ceremony recently performed in Strathcona Presbyterian Church united in marriage Miss Margaret Isabelle Fleming and Campbell Ellis Byers.

Yellow tulips arranged with lilacs and gladioli decorated the church for the occasion. Rev. Ian McSween read the vows for the daughter of Mrs. Ella Fleming of Edmonton and the son of Sidney Byers of Sylvan Lake.

Bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Edward Prokosch. She wore a gown of white satin with seed pearls outlining the net yoke. Fitted bodice featured self-covered buttons down the back and the full skirt was hooped in front to show ruffled lace insets.

Her finger-tip veil of illusion net was gathered to a coronet of tiny pearls.

She wore a pearl and amethyst pendant and carried a cascade bouquet of American beauty roses and carnations.

ATTENDANT IN AQUA

Attending the bride was Miss Barbara Dahl. She wore a long dress of pale aqua color which featured a pepium. She had matching hat and long gloves. Her bouquet was of pink roses and white carnations.

Cyril Bloom was best man and Wilfred Thomson the usher.

mr. Staff played the wedding music and soloist Miss Vinna McConnell sang "Because."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Fleming chose an afternoon dress of powder blue with a bolero. Her navy hat was trimmed with powder blue.

Her corsage was of pink roses.

Reception was held at the home of Mrs. E. Prokosch where pink snapdragons, yellow daisies and white carnations decorated the rooms. Bride's table was set with an ecru lace cloth. Three-tiered wedding cake was topped with pink apple blossoms and flanked with pink and white tapers.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Wilfred Thomson and Miss Jean Cunningham.

Bridal toast was proposed by Ed. Prokosch.

For motoring to Calgary and Banff and then to the U.S.A., bride wore a rose gabardine suit. She chose navy accessories and talisman roses.

Grande Prairie Wedding Unites John Pronovovost - Maisie Fee

Vases of spring blossoms decorated the altar of St. Joseph's Church in Grande Prairie for the early morning wedding ceremony uniting Miss Maisie Fee and John Pronovost recently.

Rev. Father Crean officiated.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fee of Grande Prairie and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pronovost of Sexsmith.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white satin gown with fitted bodice, long lily-pointed sleeves, and full skirt with wide panelled waist trimmed with seed pearls. A coronet of seed pearls held her full length veil of illusion net in place and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Her only jewelry was a four-strand pearl necklace and matching bracelet, gift of the groom.

Sister of the bride, Mrs. Ethel Middleton, and sister of the groom, Mrs. E. Provost, were her attendants.

W. C. Fee, brother of the bride and E. Provost were best man and attendant.

Mrs. W. C. Fee sang "I'll Walk Beside You," during the ceremony. Sister Louis played the wedding music.

MOTHERS RECEIVE

For the wedding the bride's mother chose a grey gabardine suit with navy accessories and corsage of talisman roses. She carried a silver fox fur. The bridegroom's mother chose a black suit with matching accessories and corsage of red roses.

For her going away outfit the bride wore a suit of meadow green gabardine with grey accessories, topped with a red fox fur. Her corsage was red roses. Following a honeymoon to Banff and United States by car, the couple will reside in Grande Prairie.

BRIDGE

Hard Luck Joe Has Himself To Blame

"I really thought I was going to make that hand," mourned Hard Luck Joe. "All I needed was to find that miserable queen of hearts on my right instead of on my left."

Joe was half right. If the queen of hearts had been favorably located he would have made his contract. However, we shall come back to this point later on.

3 N.T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the deuce of hearts, and East won with the ace. East returned the ten of hearts, and Joe, playing the South hand, hopefully finessed the jack. If this finesse had succeeded Joe would have made his game contract.

Unfortunately for Joe, West was able to win the second trick with the queen of hearts. He returned a heart, clearing the suit.

Now, of course, South was a perished pigeon. He could not make his contract without setting up diamonds. And the moment South led diamonds East was bound to take the ace and cash the rest of the hearts. The contract was therefore set one trick.

As usual, Joe had created his own hard luck for himself. If he had played the hard proper—he would have made his contract. Do you see how?

The opening lead of the deuce of hearts indicated that West had led either from a four-card holding in hearts, or from three to the queen. From any other combination West would probably have led his top heart, rather than his lowest heart.

It was, of course, just barely possible that West had led a singleton deuce of hearts. It was unlikely, however, that East had so many hearts. Moreover, West might not have led a singleton deuce of hearts but might have tried some different suit in view of South's determined bidding in notrump.

Assuming that West held either four hearts or three to the queen, South should have played the king of hearts at the second trick. There would be nothing to fear if each opponent had four hearts. If West had three to the queen, this play would block the suit.

At the third trick, South would lead a diamond, knocking out Eastís ace. East would now have to lead a heart to his partner's queen. This would clear the heart suit, but there would be no way for East to regain the lead in time to cash his good hearts.

West must make a good try by leading a club through dummy, but declarer would hop right up with the ace and cash his nine tricks: four diamonds, one club, one heart, and three spades.

Top soup with food garlands to make it sparkle. Garnishing pleases everyone—it brings a nice new look to the soup and tempting morsels to eat it with. And it's easy to do.

You can sprinkle minced parsley in a circle on cream of celery soup to fashion a pretty wreath. Or make a fancy flower on green pea soup using slivered almonds for the petals and bits of pimento for the centre.

For the children, cut animal shapes out of bread with cookie cutters. Butter and toast a golden brown under the broiler. Then float them on any soup.

For yourself, you may like your garnish added casually—attractive in no set pattern.

There is a bounty of foods to use for garnishes. The idea is to choose a "trim" that blends in flavor with the soup and gives it a gay touch too. Here are some you'll want to try—

BRAN BLUEBEERY MUFFINS and corn flakes are stamina-building foods which help husband start his working day right.

Crisp Dry Cereal — Select a cereal with definite shape, then brown in butter or margarine before adding to the soup. You'll find that moppets like puffed rice on tomato soup. Puffed wheat is delicious with cream of chicken soup. The tiny whole wheat biscuits or "pillows" are good with ox tail or bean with bacon soups.

Lemon Slice—It is good with clam chowder, hot or jellied consomme or bouillon.

Parsley Clusters—Appealing and good on all soups.

Chopped Chives — Drift nicely and taste good on vegetable, chicken-noodle, beef-noodle, vegetable-beef, chicken with rice or tomato soups.

Crisp Bacon Dices — The bacon adds even more eating joy to pepper pot, cream of chicken, clam chowder, green pea or tomato soups, Scotch broth or French Canadian pea soup.

Egg Sprinkle—Press hard-cooked egg through a sieve. Serve on beef or ox tail soups.

Wiener Slices—Cut wieners into thin slices. Brown in butter or bacon fat. Serve with green pea or bean with bacon soups.

Diced Ham — Handsome and savory with chicken gumbo soup.

Croutons—Cut bread in ¼ inch squares. Brown in butter or margarine. Strew on beef soup, cream soups, vegetarian vegetable, bean with bacon, pepper pot or most any soup.

Whipped Cream—Ladle a spoonful on ox tail or tomato soups.

Vermicelli—Goes well with consomme or bouillon.

ORANGE BRAN MUFFINS

Sift dry ingredients together except bran: 1½ cups flour, 6 tbsps. sugar, 1 tsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. soda, ½ tsp. salt. Add ¾ cup bran, 1½ tsp. grated orange rind, ½ cup orange juice. Mix and add 1 egg, ½ cup condensed milk and 2 tbsps. melted shortening. Do not beat, just stir, leaving rather lumpy. Place in greased patty pans and bake about 20 minutes in oven at 400 deg.

CORN MEAL BUNS

- 1 cup scalded milk
- ½ cup shortening
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 cup cold water
- 5½ to 6 cups sifted enriched flour
- 2 eggs
- 1 package compressed or fast granulated yeast
- 1½ cups Quaker Enriched Corn Meal

1. Pour milk over shortening sugar and salt. Add water and cool to lukewarm.
2. Stir in 2 cups of sifted flour. Add eggs and crumbled yeast. Beat with a rotary egg beater for 2 minutes.
3. Add corn meal and enough flour to make a soft dough.
4. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until satiny, about 10 minutes.
5. Round dough into ball: place in greased bowl and brush lightly with melted shortening. Let rise in a warm place until double in bulk (about 1 hour).
6. Punch down: cover and let rest 10 minutes.
7. Shape into hot dog buns. Brush lightly with melted shortening. Let rise in a warm place until double in bulk.
8. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 2 dozen buns.

★ ★ ★

- ½ cup butter or shortening
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup sweet milk
- 2 egg whites
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 2 cups flour
- Raisins and chopped nuts

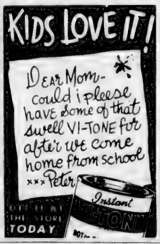
WINNIPEG — (CP) — Residents were warned not to remove plugs from catch basins before the river level dropped. "Some of them will be in for a rude surprise if they do," said Ald. C.E. Simonite. "One fellow removed the brace, and the plug hit him in the face."



MARASCHINO PEAR JAM

24 pears, 1 can pineapple, 2 oranges, pulp and finely cut rind, sugar, small bottle maraschino cherries. Cut fruit into small pieces. Measure and add ¾ cup of sugar to each cupful of fruit. Add juice of pineapple and let stand overnight. Simmer until thick then add cherries cut fine (without

Safety News

WATSON

BY CECIL 'TIGER' GOLDSTICK

For many weeks now we have been filling this space with tips and words of advice for our club members.

Today we would like to stray a bit and give a few words of advice to adults, and ask their help in our work.

As we all know safety first is the best motto when youngsters are loose on the streets.

But better still is an endeavor which keeps the youngsters off the streets.

And one of the best ways in the world to keep them off the streets, yet happy, is through supervised sports.

And this is where the adults come into our scheme.

To the men and women who coach the youngsters:

"Never teach your charges bad sportsmanship and bad habits which are likely to hinder the sporting career of these youngsters. In baseball many young players grow up to be known as 'chippy players' through their unsportsmanlike efforts of spiking or injuring fellow-ballplayers in effort to break up a double play.

"There are ways of breaking up these plays just as effectively without causing bodily injury to an opposing player.

"Teach your charges the proper way."

This same advice applies to every branch of sport, football, hockey, basketball or whatever it may be.

The high tackle in football, a high stick in hockey, a bruising check in basketball—all these can cause serious and often permanent injury.

So while you're at it, why not teach your younger folk the proper way to pursue their athletic endeavors. In later years they will thank you for it, and you will be much prouder of their efforts when they can be watched through good sportsmanship.

Remember: It pays to be a sport.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

The idea that Uncle Wiggily had for getting Chitter-Chatter to ride Jumppy, the trick circus horse, even though Buttercup, Chitter-Chatter's wife, didn't want him to (because she was afraid he might fall off) must have been a good one, because both his ears were twiddling, and his nose was twinkling, all at the same time.

First Uncle Wiggily went over to Buttercup and made a low bow. Buttercup also bowed and Uncle Wiggily said:

"Buttercup, you are a very pretty monkey girl. And you are also a very smart monkey girl."

"Oh, thank you!" Buttercup smiled. "You are very nice yourself."

"Thank you, my dear," Uncle Wiggily said, and he smiled, too. "Now, as I understand it, you don't want Chitter-Chatter to ride Jumppy because you're afraid he might fall off. Is that right?"

"That's right," Buttercup said. "And he promised me he wouldn't ride if I didn't want him to."

"And that makes him a smart monkey," Uncle Wiggily laughed. "But tell me, Buttercup—would you be afraid to ride Jumppy?"

"Oh, my, no! He seems like such a kind horse! I wouldn't be afraid to ride him at all. But I just can't help being worried when I think of Chitter-Chatter riding him."

"Then, Buttercup, I believe I can solve your problem for you. Why don't you both ride him?"

"Both of us ride him?" repeated Buttercup slowly. "Both of us?"

"Yes—because then you'll be with Chitter-Chatter when he performs his flip-flops, and if you think he's going to fall, you can just put your paw out to him, and he can hold on to that!"

"Why, Uncle Wiggily, I think that will work out fine!" she exclaimed happily.

"Chitter-Chatter, would you mind if I rode around with you on Jumppy's back while you do your flip-flops?"

"My dear, I would be honored!" Chitter-Chatter said, making a low bow to his wife, as Uncle Wiggily did. "And I'm sure Jumppy won't object to having a pretty little monkey lady like you on his back. Will you, Jumppy?"

"No indeed," Jumppy laughed. "Suppose we try it now? The audience is waiting!"

And indeed everyone in the tent was applauding. So, quick as a flash, Chitter-Chatter leaped up on Jumppy's back, and then he held out his two paws to Buttercup, and she easily leaped up too, because Jumppy had a big broad back. Oh! you should have heard the children and the animals clap then!

Now Jumppy began to run about the circus ring track, as happy and proud as could be, because his old friend Chitter-Chatter was on his back.

It was truly a great circus day. And it would have been perfect, if Uncle Wiggily at that moment hadn't heard a little voice crying behind him.

"I want to be in the circus—oh, why can't I be in the circus?"

Uncle Wiggily was certainly surprised. And I think you will be too, when I tell you the next story, which I'll do tomorrow if the grass in the back yard doesn't grow so high it tickles the cherry tree and makes it anceps so that all the cherries fall off.

BUFFALO BOGUS BILL RING IS ROUNDED UP

TORONTO, June 8.— (CP) — A recently - smashed international counterfeit ring distributed $500,000 in bonds Can...ian $10 bills a senior Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer said yesterday.

The gang, with headquarters near Buffalo, also printed counterfeit U.S. $10 and $20 bills. It was broken up by the joint effort of the RCMP and United States secret service agents, who arrested a Buffalo engraver and a number of his accomplices.

"It is the biggest and most important counterfeit ring with which we ever had any experience," the police said.

TWO ARRESTED

About $100,000 of the bills have been found in Ontario. The RCMP said about $40 000 in bogus money was recovered with the arrest at Guelph, Ont., of Frank Cipolla 33, his wife, Edith May LaFraniere. 24 of Brockville, Ont.,

Charles Cipolla, 27, a brother of Frank, was remanded until June 14 charged with having $20,000 in counterfeit money. Charged on the same count are William Ignat, 33, of Winnipeg and Douglas Gregion, 36.

RCMP officials said they are "fairly satisfied" the key figures in the ring are under lock and key

Millionaire Cuts Off Relatives

EDINBURGH, June 8—(Reuters) —A court yesterday upheld the will of Edward Cronin, Scottish millionaire uncle of novelist Dr. A. J. Cronin, excluding the writer and other relatives from all benefits. Fainting Guardsman Gets Double Trouble

LONDON, June 8.—(Reuters)— A 21-year-old guardsman who fainted at a rehearsal of the trooping-the-color ceremony May 29, has been drilling on the Double Round, a London barracks square, in a temperature of around 80 degrees fahrenheit—"for the good of his health."

The Daily Mirror told on its front page today how, while Londoners sweltered in the current heat wave, Guardsman Peter Youdale has been doing five days extra drill after being charged with "falling out on parade."

Peter has been in the Grenadier Guards for 4½ years and never fainted before. A medical officer who saw him immediately after the rehearsal, certified that Peter had fainted but was physically fit.

The Mirror said the guardsman was formally charged with "falling out on parade." Later he appeared before his adjutant and was given five days' extra drill.

The newspaper reported a war office spokesman as saying that there had been a "form of charge" against Youdale following the faint incident.

"Every soldier who falls out on parade is subject to it. It is a routine matter."

New Boundary In East Ratified

BERLIN, June 8.—(AP)—Communist-ruled East Germany, in a short ceremony with Poland, yesterday ratified the loss of nearly 39,000 square miles of Eastern territory.

A communique issued here and in Warsaw said the two governments have agreed on the "permanent marking" of their new frontier of the Oder-Neisse River line.

Anti-Communist newspapers in Berlin immediately accused the East German government of traitorously "selling the Eastern territories."

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—(AP) —Donald D. Davis, 61, president of Minnesota and Ontario Paper Company, died yesterday in hospital after suffering a stroke.

Elk Point Host At 'Bridge' Party

Community's Biggest, Best Was Entirely 'On The House'

By Marjorie Jones
Provincial News Editor

ELK POINT, June 8.—The new bridge at Elk Point cost $328,000 but it will mean many times that much in trade to businessmen in the area.

It will mean the producer can get to the consumer, and vice versa.

It will mean an outlet for lumber, salt, fish, in the area it will serve, besides agricultural products.

It will mean ferrymen like Ole Jacobson, who was on call 24 hours of every day for 13 years, can get some unbroken slumber.

It will mean a great convenience to motorists who had sometimes to wait for hours to cross if the river was low. It will mean they can cross any time, winter or summer.

It will mean tourists will get a chance to see beyond the North Saskatchewan, which it spans, and a beautiful country will open to them.

BUSINESSMEN PAID

But yesterday it meant the biggest celebration Elk Point had ever seen.

And it was all on the house.

The businessmen paid for it (the bill was over $3,000), the chamber of commerce boosted it and everybody had fun and a big hunk of barbecued steer.

They saw a parade which was anyway a mile long. They saw sports, fire works and a grandstand performance in which all the first rate talent in the district, plus a few extras, took part.

One of the most spectacular was the Saddle Lake Indians' dance. They shuffled and writhed to a rhythmic chant and stirring beat of the tomtom, until the perspiration poured down their painted faces and dripped on their beaded satin tunics.

But they accepted an encore.

It was a long day for the tots who began early in the morning and for the mothers who tried to keep them in tow among the 10,000 who attended.

Toward the middle of the afternoon, after the official opening speeches were over, Ole Jacobson said he had had enough, and headed back to the town two-and-a-half miles from the bridge.

Oldest of oldtimers, William Bleasdell Cameron, sole survivor of the Frog Lake massacre, which took place in the area, stayed the day out. He had come all the way from Meadow Lake, Sask., for the occasion and didn't miss a thing.

With Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of public works, who officially opened the bridge, speakers William Cornish and H. W. Beaudry, both MLAs, Mr. Cameron made a gallant attempt to be heard against the competition of aerobatic RCAF planes which swooped low over the listening crowd.

But Mr. MacMillan didn't really need to strain his voice to tell the people of this district how much they would benefit from the new public works project.

The bridge was already speaking for itself.

MILLET. — Wetaskiwin Constituency Conference of the Alberta Women's Institute will be held tomorrow at the Wetaskiwin Legion Hall. Guest speaker will be Mrs. T. H. Howes, director for district three.

U.S. Ground Forces Said Poised In Europe

By John L. Steele
Exclusive to The Bulletin

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(UP)—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., (R-Mass.) said today that U.S. ground forces would be fighting in Western Europe within "a very short time" after the start of any future war.

But he said in an interview that if the United States continues its arms aid program the chances were good of averting another world conflict.

Lodge, a war-time armored force combat commander, recently returned from Western Europe, where he conferred with top French military commanders and U.S. military observers.

"We can put all the Western world in a strong defensive posture and make western Europe a completely unattractive target for Russia—and without bankrupting the United States," Lodge said.

HEARINGS WIND UP

A joint senate foreign relations-armed services committee expected to complete hearings later today on President Truman's request for a $1,222,500,000 second year's arms aid program. Defence department, military aid and ECA planners were scheduled to testify.

Lodge said it would take three to four years of military aid—or about $4,000,000,000—to make western Europe strong enough to discourage a Soviet attack.

He took issue with Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.,O.,) and others who have urged that this country can contribute best to military security by building up its strategic air force.

Reptile Bites 'Snake King' Of Calgary Circus

CALGARY, June 8.—(CP)—Pat Mahoney, self-styled "Snake King," appearing with the Royal Canadian Shows in Calgary this week, was bitten by one of the reptiles yesterday and is recovering in hospital.

He was bitten on the index finger while in the snake pit.

There was no anti-venom serum in Calgary and the attending physician said Mahoney was alive only because he had been bitten before and built up some immunity.

The carnival worker was in "agonizing pain" last night. But the danger now was from infection and not from the venom. It was feared for a while surgery might have been necessary.
